

DEMAND DEATH FOR STOLL KIDNAPER

Wife-Slaying Confessed By Captured Youth

HUSBAND IS FOUND NEAR CRIME SCENE

Desire to Return to Spot Where He Left Body Results in Arrest

NATIVIDAD Valenzuela, dark, sullen 24-year-old confessed Mexican wife-murderer, returned to the scene of his crime under cover of darkness last night and was captured almost immediately
by Orange County Deputy Sheriffs Merle Dean and John Ryan.

Found walking along the Santa Fe railroad tracks north of Irvine,
about 8:30 a. m. today, Valenzuela,
who confessed he took an automobile jack from his car and crushed
under the life of his pretty 17-year-old wife as she pleaded for mercy, gave up without a struggle.

Faced with testimony of his 21-year-old brother, Nasario, and other members of the family, that Na-sario had taken Natividad to Riverside shortly after the murder, about 8 p. m. May 2, "so he could get away," Natividad made a complete confession this morning.

First Degree Charge
After a coroner's jury declared
"Jovita Valenzuela came to her death by being hit over the head
with an automobile jack, with intent to commit murder," Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis, issued a first degree murder complaint against the youth. The jury was in session when Natividad was brought to county jail by Deputies Dean and Ryan and Sheriff
Logan Jackson and Shorthand Reporter L. E. Ross.

One of the confessed murderer's
first requests, after obtaining a cigarette from Officer Dean, was to see the body of his wife, at Smith and Tenthill mortuary, where the inquest jury met. The request was granted.

Valenzuela, whose brother, Na-
sario, is held at county jail in $10,- 000 bail as being an accessory after the fact of murder, was apprehended
through a tip furnished to Assistant Santa Ana Police Chief Harry Pink, who, in turn, contacted Sheriff Jackson. The tip was given by R. D. Straw, 615 North Van Ness avenue, Santa Ana, who is foreman of a fertilizer plant at Camp, along the Santa Fe tracks, north of Irvine. Straw saw Valenzuela walking along the tracks toward San Diego. Apparently he had visited the neighborhood of the crime and had decided to leave again.

"He resembled the wanted man
in almost every respect," Straw

FIND POISON CACHE IN FRESNO SCHOOL

FRESNO, Cal., May 12.—(UP)— Discovery of strychnine and opiate beneath lockers at Fresno
high school today spurred a renewed inquiry into the poison death of Olin Everts, 15, several weeks ago.

The poison was found by A. B.
Thomas, a special investigator who asked District Attorney Dan F.
Conway to employ him on the case. Thomas found the poison, when, in the presence of a school janitor, he swept beneath all lockers in the vicinity of Olin's high school classroom, where the youth was stricken with his fatal illness.

Thomas said he found pure strychnine, such as might have come from capsules, and two tablets containing nux, vomica, a strychnine derivative, under the locker. On a ledge several inches above the floor, he found a vial
of tincture of morphine.

Striking Seamen Picket City Hall

NEW YORK, May 12.—(UP)— Striking seamen extended their picketing to city hall today in protest against alleged brutality of police in the arrest of 221
members of the International Seamen's Union yesterday, following a brawl which started with the crew of the Panama Pacific liner Virginia.

More than 150 members demanded a statement from Mayor
F. H. LaGuardia regarding the action of the police who rode down demonstrators with motorcycles
and radio cars.

the gang suspect as "Robert Miller." Both women were freed.

DELEGATES ARE WITHDRAWN BY ORDER OF DUCE

BULLETIN
ROME, May 12.—(UP)—
Grave developments, including possibility that Italy will abandon the League of Nations entirely, were foreseen in Rome political circles today
after Premier Benito Mussolini ordered his delegation
home from Geneva.

GENEVA, May 12.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini today withdrew his delegation from Geneva and warned the League of Nations it must consider the Italo-Ethiopian conflict a closed issue
if it wants Italy's cooperation in Europe.

Simultaneously Chile appeared as an ally of Italy when Manuel Rivas Vicuna, chief of the Chilean delegation, demanded the lifting of league sanctions against Italy.

Immediately after receiving Musso-lini's order Baron Pompeo Aloisi
and the other members of the Italo-delegation packed their bags preparatory to boarding the 4 p.m.
train for Rome.

League circles speculated as to whether the Italian departure was intended to represent a final warning to the league that Italy hence-

FAY ASKS COURT FOR DIVORCE FROM RUDY

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—(UP)—The marital battle between dark-eyed Fay Webb, former screen actress,
and radio crooner Rudy Vallee, today appeared nearing a final settlement as she filed suit for divorce in superior court.

Friends said they believed the
crooner would not contest the action. The couple separated April 4, 1933, when the contested property
settlement was drawn up. A supplemental pact was reported to have
been negotiated recently, smoothing the way to the divorce action.

The slim daughter of Santa Monica's police chief, Clarence C. Webb, accused the singer of being temperamental and "given to abusive language."

Rudy's temperamental outbursts
made her so ill she was forced to return to her Santa Monica home
and recuperate for months, she said. Despite her ill health, she charged, the crooner insisted she accompany him on his tours, injuring her health through late hours.

Because she is of an "extremely sensitive nature," Miss Webb said, Vallee's wrangling disturbed her
so much that she lost a great deal of weight.

Father Shunted From Spotlight In Much Ado Over Quadruplets

(UP)—Bewildered Emil Kaspar, father of the first quadruplets born in New Jersey, had one thing in common today with Olivia Dionne, sire of the Canadian quiniplets: He, too, was being shunted unceremoniously from the spotlight engulfing his multiple offspring.

The Passaic board of commissioners met today for the momentous purpose of congratulating Emil and buxom Elsie, his 36-year-old wife. It may be Emil's last important appearance. Already he has been all but obscured by three mayors, one governor, doctors,

nurses and squads of police.
The central figures in the case—Frances, Ferdinand, Felix and Frank—lay in their incubator today and celebrated their fourth day of life by switching from a diet of whiskey and sugar to mothers milk rushed here by plane and motorcycle from Boston and New York City. They are in good condition, it was said.

Mayor Daniel Turner of Passaic, who added "business manager" of the quadruplets to his other duties, vetoed a $1000 a week offer made by an amusement park for the privilege of exhibiting the babies.
He accepted, however, a telegraphed offer of $600, to be spent for necessities, extended
by Mrs. Edmond E. Herrscher of San Francisco.

TOWNSEND HINT POINTS TO NEW POLITICAL PLAN

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(UP)—
Followers of Dr. Francis E.
Townsend, elderly founder of the old age revolving pension plan
today wondered how seriously
they were to take his hint that he might support an "independent candidate" in the next presidential campaign.

Townsend made his statement
at a general press conference at which he answered questions on his movement and told his attitude towards his former friend,
Rep. John Steven McGroarty, D., Calif., who had sought Townsend support for himself in the California presidential primary last week.

"I won't predict what the movement may do," the Long Beach physician said. "There may be independent candidates running in November whom the Townsend plan will support."

The physician denied testimony
given at a congressional hearing
that a deal had been made for him to throw the support of his organization to Governor Frank
P. Merriam in return for a $12,- 000 contribution which never was made.

Dr. Townsend said there had been no political real whatever with Merriam in the 1934 governmental campaign in which Upton Sinclair opposed Merriam for the governorship.

Turning to McGroarty's campaign, Dr. Townsend snapped,
"I'm glad he was defeated."
"I would not have voted for McGroarty for congress if he were living in my district. I'm glad he got only 60,000 votes."

The congressional investigation into the Townsend plan was characterized by Dr. Townsend as "unfair."
"They have been unfair in that they have left out of the records," he said. "Their chief interest has been to besmirch our character."

LATE FLASHES

SENATE GETS NAVY PACT
WASHINGTON, May 12.—(UP)—
President Roosevelt today sent to the senate for ratification the naval treaty with Great Britain signed at conclusion of the recent conference in London. The president sent the pact to the senate without comment.

Friends said they believed the
crooner would not contest the action. The couple separated April 4, 1933, when the contested property
settlement was drawn up. A supplemental pact was reported to have
been negotiated recently, smooth-
ing the way to the divorce action.

Under the new agreement, Attorney Ben Cohen said she will receive "certain sums" in addition to the $100 weekly, which is to continue being paid until she remarries.

The attorney declined to say how much the "certain sums" were or if they had been paid or will be paid after the decree is granted. He did hint, however, the supplemental agreement provided her with a
"good round sum."

Prior to filing the action here,
Miss Webb, through her New York
attorney informed Judge Harry R.
Archbald,

F. D. R. Gives Blessing To Revised Tax

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(UP)—
The New Deal today gave its blessing to senate finance committee revision of the controversial corporate surplus tax proposal of the new $803,000,000 tax bill.
Changes in the corporate proposal were urged directly by Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

At the same time word came from the White House that revision of the measure would be acceptable so long as its yield was maintained and the underlying principle of distribution of corporate surpluses as taxable divi-

Jones' statement, contained in a letter to the committee, presented virtual agreement with a number of business and industrial critics of the bill who had contended it would hinder recovery.

Jones indicated belief that in some respects the effects of the corporate tax proposal would outweigh the effects of the new tax. He pointed out that the newly launched endeavor to increase employment in private business through expansion of industries capable of absorbing substantial numbers of idle workmen.

"I have not had time to study
the bill carefully," Jones said, "but if substantial concessions could be made that would encourage modernization, new plant construction and new buildings to replace old ones, new equipment for railroads
and industry of all kinds, including allowances for the new debts created for these purposes, the employment situation, and business generally would, in all probability, be greatly helped and society much better served."

Chairman William P. Connery
of the house labor committee interjected a remark that while the American Federation of Labor executive council "had come out

had taken no action against the

LEMKE CHARGES UNFAIR ATTACK ON FARM BILL

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(UP)—
Rep. William Lemke, bald-headed and dynamic sponsor of the Frazier-Lemke farm morgage bill, charged today that the farm credit administration is "lobbying unfairly" to defeat the proposal.

The inflation blue leader said that a few women as tall as 5 feet 11 inches, or 6 feet, come into the store.

"I started scrutinizing him carefully when I waited on him. It was one of the few times I am alone at the counter, and I believe he came in at that time for breakfast because he saw the place was almost deserted."

I remembered a description I had heard in the "Gang Buster" radio program. This man fitted the description, even to a dimple
on his chin and a disfigured ear.
I didn't dare call police and let him know what I was doing. After he picked up the menu, I asked him what his order was,
and he pointed to the menu. I noticed his hands which were short and stubby, not like a woman's. He had a diamond ring on the little finger of his left hand
and a square-cut stone on the ring finger of his right hand.

He was heavily painted, apparently to conceal the stubble on his face. The only time he spoke was when I asked him if he wanted grapefruit or orange juice.
He said, "orange juice."

His voice was that of a man,
although he tried to conceal it
by making it high pitched. He paid with a $1 bill, took his change and left.

I called police as soon as possible, and told them I believed I had seen Robinson. They brought me to the police station and after seeing the photograph, there that it was Robinson.

'GOOFY' TIP OF CLERK LED TO KIDNAP CATCH

Robinson's Feminine At-

to Fool One Man

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following account of the "goofy tip"
that apparently resulted in capture of Thomas H. Robinson Jr., hunted kidnaper, was given by Lynn Allen, Pasadena, Calif., drug store lunch counter manager, who first reported Robinson's presence in this area to local police.

BY LYNN ALLEN
(As Told the United Press)

PASADENA, Calif., May 12.—
(UP)—When I was informed that Thomas Robinson, the Stoll kidnaper had been caught, I knew it was a man I had seen in my drug store last April 10, dressed as a woman.

I was sure at the time it was a man, and that he was feigning
a disguise.

The thing that attracted my attention was his extreme height.
Only a few women as tall as 5

AT TRAIL'S END

Thomas H. Robinson Jr., last of the nation's first ranking "bad men," came to the end of crime's trail when G-men caught up with him in Glendale last night. He was back in Kentucky today
where the death sentence will be demanded as his payment for the ransom-kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Berry Stoll in Louisville on October 10, 1934.

PRETTY GIRL IS WITH ROBINSON WHEN CAPTURED

GLENDAL, May 12.—(UP)—
Thomas H. Robinson Jr., accused of kidnapping Mrs. Alice Stoll, was seized in a "love nest"
he was occupying with a pretty young woman, federal agents revealed here today.

While still refusing to release all the details of the capture here
last night, agents admitted that a woman was with him when they forced their way into a bungalow
where the long-sought suspect was in hiding.

The woman was not held, but will be kept under close surveillance in the event she is wanted for further questioning, it was said.

Agents said their information indicated she played no part in the abduction and had joined Robinson later, coming here from the east.

Investigators flatly declined to discuss the woman's name.

San Diego Fair Invites Airship

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 12.—
(UP)—Exposition officials today awaited an answer to their proposition asking that the new German dirigible (Hindenberg) be brought to California this summer.

Wayne K. Dillard, executive manager, said under his proposed plan, a group of German citizens
would be brought to visit the exposition, and a passenger list of Southern Californians arranged for the return.

specify the address of the hide-out but said the bungalow was situated in the heart of Glendale within 10 miles of downtown Los Angeles.

Robinson and his inamorata had been living there as man and wife for two months or more.

Previously, it had been reported that Robinson was seized in a local hotel but this information was said to have been supplied purposely to protect the unnamed informants from the possibility of reprisal.

Actions of the fugitive and his paramour, according to agents, went the house aroused the suspicions of neighbors and eventually these suspicions were communicated to the department of justice.

Pictures of Robinson were shown neighbors who identified him and the trap was quickly sprung. There was no violence, the suspect meekly surrendering when confronted by his armed captors.

The entire raid and its preliminaries were carried out with such secrecy that it wasn't until the prisoner was placed aboard a chartered plane and started back to Louisville, that local agents would even confirm that he was in custody.

Robinson, who frequently used women's clothes in his hide and seek with the federal men for approximately two years, was heavily shackled as four secret service men literally threw him aboard the plane. His arms were bound with chains and one foot was in a heavy steel Oregon boot.

Facts gathered from reluctant airport attendants dramatized the effective coup.

Robinson was captured at approximately 8:30 p. m. (PST). At 9 p. m., a federal spokesman called Grand Central airport and ordered Douglas Aircraft company to warm up a transport plane and "have it standing by."

The Douglas personnel, trained to obey governmental orders through frequent work with "G-men," wheeled out a speedy cabin plane and conditioned the craft at an isolated end of the huge Transcontinental landing field.

At approximately 9:30 p. m., a government automobile drove up an alley near the isolated hangar. Four federal men hauled the shackled Robinson from the car.

"They had him inside the plane within three minutes," said one of the few persons who observed the start of the kidnaper's sky ride.

"They shoved him around a little; they didn't waste any time or movements getting him aboard."

Few words were spoken by the heavily armed secret service men. "We got him on a goofy tip," one of the government agents said.

"We took a chance, followed a lead and caught him."

The airplane took off as soon as the door slammed shut.

HEAVY YELLOWTAIL CATCH IS REPORTED

Santa Ana and Orange county fishermen took to the sea today following reports of an unprecedented run of yellowtail, off Laguna Beach, which started yesterday.

According to reports received here, three live-bait boats, operating out of Newport Beach, returned last night with 228 of the fish ranging in size from 12 to 20 pounds. The fish are being caught near the mouth of Aliso Creek and out from Laguna Beach.

The prize catch went to the charter party on the live bait boat Owl. There were 11 men on the craft and they returned to the harbor with a total of 87 fish.

GIANT HINDENBURG OUT OVER ATLANTIC AGAIN ON RETURN TRIP TO GERMANY

Dwarfing to pinpoint dots the members of the landing crew, the giant Hindenburg, trans-Atlantic airliner de luxe, is shown as she was made fast to the mooring mast at Lakehurst, N. J., having completed the 4381-mile voyage from Friedrichshafen, Germany, at an average speed of more than 70 miles per hour. Beneath the name Hindenburg may be seen the control car. Two of the ship's four motor gondolas are seen protruding from the side, while between them and the control cabin may be seen the windows of the passenger quarters. The huge Zeppelin was far out over the Atlantic this afternoon, headed for the homeland. It left Lakehurst last night in the return voyage to Germany.

forth will not tolerate intervention in Ethiopia.

It was understood that when Aloisi's departure from yesterday's private council meeting failed to impress other delegates Mussolini decided to show his determination to settle any Ethiopian problem without the league's interference.

Italian circles were without definite indication as to whether Mussolini intends to tender Italy's resignation.

Aloisi conveyed news of his instructions direct to Joseph A. C. Avenol, league secretary general. Aloisi's announcement of his immediate impending departure from Geneva startled the league and provoked fears it Duce has decided to quit the league.

In his letter to Avenol, Vicuna said sanctions should be lifted in view of developments in Ethiopia. He asked the secretariat to distribute copies of the letter to all league members to enable them to give his government's proposals full consideration.

Officials presumed Vicuna decided to send his letter rather than raise the sanctions question before the council, which is not competent to deal with the penalties applied against Italy.

Vicuna conveyed his intentions to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and to Aloisi before filing his communication with Avenol.

His government had instructed him to work for abolition of anti-Italian sanctions as soon as an "opportune moment" arrived or to support any other nation adopting a similar position.

Aloisi's actions, the United Press was informed, were based on special instructions just received from Mussolini.

They arrived within a few hours of a public council session. Immediately before a resolution embodying a decision to continue passive opposition to Italy's conquest of Ethiopia had been prepared for adoption by the council.

DEATH TO BE DEMANDED FOR ROBINSON, CAUGHT BY G-MEN

her home here in October, 1934, after being slugged with a piece of pipe. He was released six days later after her husband had paid $50,000 ransom.

Robinson probably will be arraigned before Judge Hamilton late today or tomorrow on the Lindbergh indictment. Gardner asked that he be held without bond.

A slow rain was falling and few people were at the airport where the plane bearing Robinson was expected about noon.

VICTIM WAS SUBJECT TO MERCILESS VIOLENCE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(UP)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., admitted after his capture in California, it was learned today, that he subjected Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll to merciless violence while he held her captive.

This admission, under the new federal kidnapping law, makes Robinson eligible for the death sentence.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, was advised by his agents in California today that under questioning Robinson told them he was forced to use a lead pipe to beat Mrs. Stoll into submission.

Hoover quoted Robinson as saying: "I paid plenty for protection."

This evidently was an indication that the ransom money had been largely dissipated in Robinson's hurried flight from the law. It also carried the inference that perhaps Robinson had been in some manner connected with the underworld despite the general belief that he was a "lone wolf."

Denies Karpis Tip
However, Hoover denied Italy a report that a tip from Alvin Karpis had led to the capture of Robinson.

It was revealed at the same time that Mrs. Stoll was Robinson's "third choice," as a kidnaper victim. Originally, Hoover said his agents were told, Robinson had intended to kidnap Mrs. Stoll's father-in-law. He even visited the residence of the elder Stoll but found him away from home. He then went to the home of the son intending to kidnap him and finally decided upon his wife when the son, too, was away.

According to the confession, as transmitted to Hoover, Robinson said he was forced to beat his victim to make her obey his commands. Under the federal kidnapping statute the death penalty is provided for kidnappers in any case where victims are physically harmed during captivity.

Hoover said that a check of Robinson's lodging had resulted in finding five firearms, including a .45 caliber automatic pistol which was in Robinson's pocket, two .25 caliber automatics, a .38 automatic and a 12-gauge Remington automatic shotgun.

$2360 Found on Person

He said a close check of money found on Robinson showed he was carrying $2360 of the $50,000 ransom paid for Mrs. Stoll's return.

Hoover said trailing of the ran-

KEN MURRAY SAYS:

"Guess you have to chalk up another score for German efficiency judging from the record breaking voyage of Dr. Hugo Eckener in the new Zeppelin, Hindenburg. Well, it's certainly an appropriate time! The big Zep looks like a symbolic forerunner of a campaign cigar."

I understand that the tower of the Empire State building was originally intended as a mooring-mast, but now I guess they're afraid there are not enough occupants in it to hold it down.

Of course, landing in America creates no great problems, but judging from the foreign news, I don't see how it's possible for anything so large to come down in Europe without getting punctured on a bayonet.

What this government should really do is build a few gigantic ships or dirigibles with WPA money. The tax-payers can't get very enthusiastic about cheering a pile of leaves.

som money as it turned up across the country was one of the major factors in apprehending Robinson, but declined to reveal details of the hunt or exactly what had led to his final apprehension.

He did say, however, that the capture was entirely the result of work by FBI agents, and that no tips had been received from any outside source which were of the slightest value in the hunt.

Hoover gave credit to the series of crime bills enacted by congress in 1934 for the spectacular success of his bureau in stamping out kidnapping.

KIDNAPER'S WIFE PLANS TO PUSH DIVORCE PLEA

PEGRAM STATION, Tenn., May 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Frances Robinson, wife of Thomas H. Robinson Jr., accused kidnaper of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, will continue her plans to obtain a divorce.

Mrs. J. N. Althaus, Mrs. Robinson's mother, with whom she and her 6-year-old son Jimmie are staying here, revealed her daughter's plans. The kidnaper's wife refused to see anyone.

ROBLES KIDNAPING REMAINS ONLY UNSOLVED MAJOR CASE

TUCSON, Ariz., May 12.—(UP)—The kidnapping and imprisonment of little June Robles in a desert cage in 1934 remained today the only unsolved—publicly, at least—abduction case in which the Federal Department of Justice has participated.

A year ago, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced at Washington, "The Robles case is solved to our satisfaction," but no public explanation ever has been given and only one man has been arrested.

This man, Oscar H. (Buster) Robson, former Tucson nightclub operator and former schoolmate of Fernando Robles, June's father, still awaits trial in Federal court on charges of writing one of the notes which demanded $15,000 ransom for June's return. Robson was not charged with the actual kidnapping and denied any connection with the affair.

June was abducted April 24, 1934, as she walked home from school. A few hours later, a note demanding $15,000 was delivered to her parents. The child's grandfather, Bernabe Robles, is a wealthy, retired cattleman.

HAILE SELASSIE IS ILL IN JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, May 12.—(UP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today was so ill that he was confined to his suite at the King David hotel. His majesty abandoned his usual morning prayers at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and before the shrines of the Jerusalem Coptic Christian monastery.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Arthur Wauchope, British high commissioner for Palestine, visited the Negus. Upon leaving the sick room the high commissioner declined to comment upon his majesty's condition or upon the nature of their consultations.

Subsequently E. A. Colson of Maine, American adviser to the imperial court of Ethiopia, visited Haile Selassie for private consultations.

County J-men were closing in today on the perpetrator of the latest local kidnapping outrage, the abduction of Type, the orange-colored pup mascot at the courthouse press room.

Finger-print Expert Herman J. Zabel, at the sheriff's office, today reported that an examination of prints found on the license tag left at the scene of the crime gave a hot clew to the kidnapper.

I found these were lion prints," said Zabel. "I also deduce from the prints that the kidnaper has hair approximately the same color as that of the pup. From that, we suspect declared, "and I thought it best to ask an investigation."

Confesses to Officers
When approached by Officers Dean and Ryan, the man turned and spoke to them. He said he was "Dario Lopez" but upon further questioning, admitted "Lopez" was his youthful wife's maiden name and his own name was Valenzuela. He made a complete confession which was repeated and elaborated upon after being taken to the jail.

"I guess I must have gone crazy and lost my temper," Valenzuela confessed. "I never liked to dance and Jovita always like to dance and we argued that night and that's why I did it." He said she pleaded with him as he struck her three times over the face and threw her into the Peters canyon irrigation ditch near Delhi road, 2 1/2 miles from its intersection with Newport boulevard.

"I forgive you, Natividad," the confessed murderer said his wife told him before she died. "Now go away, far away, so they won't get you."

He said he left the scene before his wife died.

Questions and answers of Sheriff Jackson, Assistant District Attorney Davis and Valenzuela followed:

"Where did you go after you left the scene?"

"I went to my mother's home in Delhi and told my brother to take me to Riverside."

"What did you tell your brother?"

"I told him I killed my wife and had to get away."

Tells of Flight
Natividad related the story of how he walked from Riverside to Colton, caught a freight to Beaumont or Banning, where the train crew ordered him off; how he hitch-hiked a ride to Midland, Tex., with a cattle man by the name of Fred Billings, and then returned to the home of relatives in El Paso.

El Paso officers verified his statement in a telegram to Sheriff Jackson yesterday, and declared they had placed a stakeout on the El Paso residence of Valenzuela's relatives.

"I hopped another freight from El Paso and rode day and night, arriving at Colton last night," Valenzuela continued. "Then I walked from Colton last night and arrived here about 1:30 a. m. today. I slept out along the railroad tracks last night."

In another portion of his testimony, with his eyes seldom wandering from a fixed spot on the table in front of him, Valenzuela told how he had quarreled with his wife "about just almost anything."

"She was often cross at me," he said. "We started out in the car that night and just wandered around. She wanted to go to a dance; then we quarreled."

He said he took the jack from his car, held the girl wife at arm's length and battered the jack against her head as she cried. He said he was not drinking but had just lost his temper. "She told me the last time I was in jail she had a date with a white fellow," Valenzuela declared in explanation of his jealousy. He denied he believed she had been untrue to him.

Oddities In The News

FISHING VIA ZEPPELIN

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 12.—(UP)—One of the passengers on the Hindenburg on its return flight is Paul Mack-Hale, who is of Scotch descent. He said he was making the trip merely to get a day's fishing at Frankfort-On-Main "where I hear there are some mighty fine trout." The day's fishing will cost him $720, price of a round trip fare.

'CANDLE' EXPLODES
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 12.—(UP)—The pretty red "candle" a departing boarder left as a gift for Mrs. Louise Reimel, his landlady, exploded and blew off the tips of four of Mrs. Reimel's fingers when she lit it. The "candle" was a huge firecracker.

RESPECT FOR TELL
SEATTLE, May 12.—(UP)—Charles Lee, Jr., 9, had more respect today for William Tell's accuracy with the bow and arrow. Charles was being treated for an eye injury, which he suffered when he essayed the part of the son of the Swiss bowman while a youthful companion tried to knock an apple off his head.

SCRAM'S THE NAME
CLEVELAND, May 12.—(UP)—"Scram," said a motorist to Patrolman Chester Krause as he demanded names at a traffic accident. "What?" cried Krause, "Why you?"

Then he suddenly stopped blustering as the motorist continued: "Yes, Scram—James Scram. I live on Clinton avenue."

COOPERATIVE WRECK
MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 12.—(UP)—Curtis Mobley, 19, and Dewey Brown, 22, each of whom has only one leg, decided to go bicycling on a cooperative basis, one pedaled with the right leg, the other with the left. At a street intersection their bicycle collided with an auto. Neither was injured seriously.

LEAPERS DISAPPEAR
LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(UP)—California is an unsafe place for Florida frogs, Orval R. Griffin deplored today in reporting to police that two more of his prize breeding and jumping bullfrogs had been stolen. He said he has lost 20 Florida frogs in the last six months and is ready to abandon his attempt to breed a strain of super-leapers.

POLICE NAB 'GAMBLERS'
HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—(UP)—Police Chief James E. Davis' relentless crusade against gambling netted a pair of penny-pitchers at Hollywood Boulevard today. One of the "gamblers" was a 12-year-old boy. Arresting officers said they were "impeding" sidewalk traffic.

SIX AMERICANS IN BRITAIN'S AMATEUR

LONDON, May 12.—(UP)—A field of 268, third largest entry list in history, will compete in the 50th British Amateur golf championship beginning May 25 at St. Andrews, Scotland.

The entries include 21 foreign golfers of which six are Americans. Most prominent United States absentee is Lawson Little of San Francisco, winner of the past two British amateur titles, who recently turned professional.

The American entrants are R. D. Chapman of Greenwich, Conn.; Dennis Boardman, Hamilton, Mass.; Jack La Roque and Ellis Knowles, Rye, N. Y.; John Arthur Brown, Pine Valley C. C., N. J.; Theodore Bassett, Westchester, C. C.

All Americans but Boardman drew first round byes. He meets Cyril Tolley of England in the first round. Brown will play Leonard Crawley, former British Walker Cup star, in the second round.

attorneys, dropped her appeal to the New York court decision which dismissed the suit she brought to invalidate the 1933 agreement.

The divorce complaint followed the traditional Hollywood formula of charging "abuse, temperament and mental cruelty." No mention was made of other women in Rudy's life. In her separate maintenance suit, Miss Webb had charged Vallee with having affairs with other women.

Cohen said charges Miss Webb had made previously have no bearing on the present action and he believed an amicable settlement would be reached without Vallee repeating the charges he made when he quoted from purported dictaphone records of conversations between his wife and Gary Leon, adagio dancer.

ANNUAL FROLIC OF CHOIR ON THURSDAY

ORANGE, May 12.—The Presbyterian choir will hold its annual frolic in the lower auditorium of the church Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The first part of the program will consist of a group of sentimental and humorous songs rendered by choir and soloists. A contest will be conducted in which the audience will participate by applauding the winner by applause.

A collection will be taken for the aid of the eastern churches that were damaged in the floods.

During the amateur hour the choir and friends will be allowed to appear before the microphone. George Richardson will be master of ceremonies and those not qualifying will be given the song. The program will close with the congregation singing "Lights Out."

Interfering With Arrest Results In Sentence and Fine

Alex Alvarez, 19, of 1233 West Second street, who was charged by Officer Paul Cozad of Santa Ana police of interfering with an arrest, was given a six months' suspended county jail term and a $75 fine when he appeared before Justice Kenneth Morrison this morning.

Officer Cozad was arresting 72-year-old James M. Carson, 1059 1/2 West Second street, for being intoxicated, when Alvarez interfered unsuccessfully, the officer said.

MEXICAN YOUTH FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN FIELD

The body of a 16-year-old Mexican boy, Francisco Gomez, of 149 1-2 Walnut street, Placentia, was found in a vacant lot at Melrose and Center streets, in Placentia by Raul Montana, a neighbor who saw this body as he stood on his front porch this morning. The body had a .32 calibre bullet hole through the hip.

At the same time, William Kraemer of East Crowther street, Placentia, reported to Gus Barnes of the Placentia police department, that he had fired three shots last night at a peeping tom he saw outside the window of his home. Officers today were investigating to determine whether the Gomez youth was struck by a bullet from Kraemer's weapon.

I saw a man outside and shot three times at him," Kraemer said, according to investigating officers. "I saw him run away and thought no more of the incident until today."

Gomez' body was taken this morning to McAulay & Suters funeral home, Fullerton, where an inquest will be conducted later by Coroner Earl Abbey. Barnes, Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel, and Investigator Bob Sandoz and Deputy District Attorney Clarence Sprague were investigating Gomez' death today.

TYPING CLASSES AT NIGHT SCHOOLS

Beginners and advanced students in typing are being invited to join the typing classes offered in night school at Willard and Lathrop junior high schools.

According to Mrs. Golden Weston and W. W. Weiman, principals of the two night schools, three weeks of instruction allows opportunity to lay a sound foundation for further practice and development of skill in typing.

For the next three weeks, typing classes will be conducted at Willard school on Monday nights and at Lathrop every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p. m.

H. H. Cotton, of San Clemente, won his appeal yesterday from an Anaheim justice court decision awarding D. Carlisle, fertilizer dealer, judgment for $30 on a fertilizer bill.

Cotton had placed an order for a certain type of fertilizer, to cost $30, Carlisle delivered another kind, which Cotton's gardeners had partially distributed, before he discovered the error. He refused to pay the bill of $130, but did pay $100, plus $3 tax, which Carlisle accepted.

Upon that showing by Attorney R. Z. McKinney, counsel for Cotton, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday set aside the lower court judgment and held that Carlisle had accepted a settlement of the claim. The court awarded Cotton his costs, amounting to $8.

JAMES L. DAVIS ASKED TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis today received a petition signed by officers of a majority of Townsend clubs in Orange county, urging him to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress.

The petition, signed by presidents and secretaries of more than 30 of the 45 clubs in the county, was presented to Davis late today by A. P. Nelson, as representative of the Townsend organization. Davis declined to comment as to whether or not he would be a candidate.

Urging Davis to announce himself as a candidate for the party nomination the petition pointed out that "we feel that your candidacy would terminate successfully."

Should Davis accede to the wishes of the Townsend organization, and become a candidate for the Democratic nomination it will be the second time that he has campaigned for the office. In 1934 he was a candidate for nomination to congress on the Democratic ticket.

In addition to the request from the Townsend organization it is said that Davis is being urged to make the face again by Democratic leaders in San Bernardino and Riverside counties, the other counties in the nineteenth congressional district.

In the petition submitted to Davis today the Townsend clubs urged: "We, the undersigned members and workers for the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension plan, knowing that you are interested in seeing this plan enacted into a law; and feeling that, as a representative in congress, you would devote your best energies and efforts to this end, take this means of apprising you of the feeling of those interested in the success of Townsend plan, toward you personally, and we earnestly urge you to announce yourself as a candidate at the congressional primaries in August and we feel assured that your candidacy would terminate successfully."

Members of the Kindergarten Primary association will hold a dinner meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall at Tustin, starting at 6:30 p. m. Miss Dorothy Hamilton, of Fullerton, president of the group, will preside during the meeting.

Geoffrey Morgan, assemblyman from Santa Monica, will be the principal speaker.

This will be the final meeting of the year and officers for the new year will be installed during the business session.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

By PAUL MALLON
Copyright, 1936, by Paul MallonTHINKING—WASHINGTON, May 12.—Several likely men of the Republican party are thinking currently along these lines:Borah will have around 100 delegates or less; Hoover (not in his own name), about 100; the Hill-Roraback-Hallahan, etc., crowd, about 200; Col. Knox (with some overlapping) upwards of 100.If they get together, they can stop Landon.Note—The only fault in this reasoning is there is not a chance in the world of them getting together.
Borah, Hoover and Hill are not mix.

HOOPER—

The Hoover strength is one of the most interesting mysteries of the Republican situation.His name may not even be mentioned at the convention. Authentic information is available indicating that he does not want it mentioned.
Certainly no nominating speech
will be made for him, and the early speakers will not touch on him.Yet his delegates will be there,
a rather close group made up mostly of former office-holders in his administration, a substantial portion of them will come from the western states, mainly Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, he will not get much from Texas, Florida, North Carolina.The bloc will be handled by Walter Brown, will not vote for Hoover,
but will be influenced by the ex-president's choice. No one knows when they will vote for yet.

CARPENTER—

Mighty men also are trying to get Senator Borah to head the resolutions committee to draw the platform of course "draw" is not the proper word, "saw" is better. The planks are always prepared far ahead of time. All the resolutions committee usually does is to fit
them into flooring, smoothing
splinters.Borah has resisted the feelers so far. He is still upset about the way he has been treated by all concerned.Nevertheless the good he could do the party as chief carpenter at Cleveland is recognized by all. The pressure on him will grow heavier.Note—Some other names are being gossiped around as chief carpenter, including that of William Allen White, the Kansas editor.

PREMATURE ASSUMPTION—

Everyone has been assuming that Governor Landon, if nominated, will make John Hamilton his
"Jim Farley." Mr. Hamilton, young, active, shrewd, is supposed to have been groomed carefully for the job
by his experience as general counsel to the national committee and as a highly successful Landon campaign manager.Nevertheless, the eastern crowd would not be surprised if another is chosen as next chairman of the Republican national committee. The decision will rest entirely with Governor Landon, but the eastern boys will do what they can to influence the selection of "someone with whom we can work more harmoniously."It seems that Mr. Hamilton has tried upon some important toes which are now being raised against him.

OUTS—

The presidential campaign has reached the acute allbi stage. On both sides there are cropping up word-wizards whose assignment is to twist primary facts and figures to suit their fancy and favorite.White House whisperers poolpooh the suggestion that the Breckinridge vote in Maryland foreshadowed a conservative uprising against Mr. Roosevelt in his own party. Allbi—No money was spent and no campaign speeches made (the President's Baltimore "youth"
address was supposed to be for other ears than Maryland's). The "organization" is still in the process of forgetting the late "Bert" Ritchie and his righting itself toward Roosevelt.Alf Landon's sotto squad deny that the unexpected delegation's
California victory was an upset.
Allbi—It may permit the Landonites to shake off, at least superficially, the Hearst hoodoo, and it may soften Herbert Hoover's private prejudice against the Kansas governor.Senator Borah's glad-handers are positively cheerful over his defeat
by Landon in South Dakota. Allbi—
The Landonites spent oodles
of money and smothered the state with literature, whereas the Idahoan simply squatted in his senate office. Moreover, South Dakota is linked geographically, agriculturally, ancestrally and sentimentally
with Kansas-Iowa-Nebraska (Landon territory) rather than the liberal (Borah) Northwest.

ERROR—

Physically a gray, gnomish figure, mentally Herman Oliphant is a legal and intellectual giant. As the treasury's general counsel, he is the inspirational and driving force behind the smash-the-surplus tax measure.But he may be driving Secretary Morgenthau a mile too hard.
Behind the scenes at the treasury
there is bitterness over the billion-dollar difference in dividend-and-revenue estimates which were submitted by Mr. Morgenthau and interim Revenue Commissioner Helvering. The inside information is that Mr. Helvering—a politician but an able administrator—depend on his own staff rather than on Mr. Oliphant for his financial data.What irks Mr. Morgenthau's aides is that the incident pictured him as "fixing" figures to gain a political end. It's a charge frequently hurled at treasury statisticians but never personally refuted. Council Oliphant has many enemies in the government and they blame him for the error. They also decry his advice that the secretary magnify it into a major blunder by replying so formally and indignantly. George May, who detected the discrepancy, has a high reputation in financial and congressional circles.

WATCHFUL—

Gentle Cordell Hull winced when headlines confronted him with raucous cries of a "Roman peace"
and "Ethiopia is Italian." The conquest assured another severe test
for his policy of peace-on-earth-and-good-will-to-men.He stalled off all diplomatic questioners who rushed in to learn whether the United States would recognize Italy's right to territory seized by force of arms. He would not say whether the non-recognition attitude applied to Japanese penetration of Manchukuo and embedded in the Montevideo pact—his proudest achievement—would prevail in East Africa. He dodged with the explanation that this government must first learn the "nature of the occupation"—as if he were not aware of Il Duce's flaming intentions.To outsiders it appeared as if the normally shrewd Mr. Hull was flabbergasted. But privately he is deliberately stalling to see what Geneva, Paris and London—Mussolini's big backers—will do next.
Whether he lift our embargo on loans, credits, and arms may depend on whether they continue or discontinue their sanctions. He recalls that Great Britain "took a walk" when the Hoover-Stimson's aggressiveness toward Japan almost promoted a war between ourselves and Nippon. For all his ideals, Mr. Hull is no Alice in Britain's blunderland.

MISSING YOUTH IS

SOUGHT BY POLICE

Sheriff's officers today were hunting for Ray Page, 26, of Yorba Linda, following a report by Mrs. Page that she believed he was kidnapped Saturday. Page left a note declaring he would return later, and officers declared circumstances of his disappearance
did not indicate kidnapping.Page is described as weighing 160 pounds, being five feet, 11½ inches tall, and having light-colored hair and blue eyes. When he left, Page wore white shirt light cor-dado trousers blue tie and black shoes.

FICTITIOUS CHECK

PASSER IS SOUGHT

City police were searching today
for fictitious check passer who cashed an $18.40 check on the Santa Ana branch of the Bank of America Saturday afternoon at the Empire market, Second and Broadway, according to R. J. Vidal's report.
The name of the check maker was given as George E. Vaughn, while the payee and endorser were named as Emil Berwick of "325 East Third street." It was learned the East Third street address is that of an old house which is being torn down.
Emil Berwick not being known in the neighborhood.

Police News

An apple a day may keep the doctor away but not the city police, John Rhein of Los Angeles, apple peddler, learned yesterday
when he was haled before City
Clerk Ed Vegely on a complaint of
a Santa Ana that he was selling
apples on Louise street north of Washington avenue, probably without paying a license. Rhein displayed a free license in the name of George Prosser, Los Angeles, and was released by the police who escorted him to the city hall.

Mrs. Eva Hey, 1125 East Santa

Clara avenue, asked city police and sheriff's officers yesterday to assist her in making it safe for chickens at her place. She declared five chickens were stolen from her place Friday night and a prowler was seen the following night in the vicinity of the hen house.

"Tis far better to find a baby's push cart lying in the street than a baby, quoth Merchant Police Officer Forest W. Lockhart late last night as he delivered the push cart

to city police headquarters for safekeeping. "The cart dropped off a north-bound automobile which was traveling in the 400-block of South Main," Lockhart reported.

A letter from the alumni office of the University of Michigan came to the attention of city police today

as assistance was asked in locating Miles Von Schrittz. Letters addressed to Von Schrittz, care of Isaac M., Route 3, Box 83, Santa Ana, were returned to the university headquarters. It was reported to City Clerk Ed Vegely, who asked police to check on the whereabouts of the man. The "Isaac M's" were said to have moved to Belvedere Gardens, near Los Angeles, without leaving specific mailing address, officers learned.SCHOOL BOARD MAY CALL NEW BOND ELECTIONThe Santa Ana Board of Education last night launched a new movement which may result in the calling of a special bond election
and which may result in the saving of $120,000 to the Santa Ana school system.A motion was adopted to obtain the opinion of O'Melveny, Tuller and Myers, Los Angeles firm of attorneys highly regarded by bond purchasers, to determine if it would be legal for the local board of education to hold a bond election to retire the Greene Bill debt of $600,000.Auditor Harold Yost explained that the school system had borrowed the state Green Bill money for rehabilitation of earthquake damaged schools. The plan is to retire the obligation through a bond issue,
which would necessitate a bond election.Yost pointed out that the local school system is paying four and a quarter per cent interest on the $600,000 debt, and that it is possible to secure savings of two per cent
on the interest through the plan outlined.Attention was called to the fact that the last school bonds here
sold at two and a quarter per cent interest. This saving in interest charges would amount to several thousands yearly, it was stated,
and over a period of 20 years would aggregate $120,000.There appeared to be some question as to whether a bond issue
could be made to retire past debts under state law. It was said, however, that under the Greene Bill,
the state really owns the school buildings until the debt is repaid.Therefore, it was said, it is possible that the bond issue could be made to repurchase the school buildings from the state.It is this point on which the opinion of the law firm is solicited.
The law firm will charge $250 for the opinion.

Metzgar Is Named

Secretary of Home

Owned Business

J. C. Metzgar, former secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has been named secretary-manager of the Home Owned Business association, succeeding Ted Bolte who has resigned to head the Orange county campaign of the Anti-Monopoly league.Metzgar who, until recently, has been an inspector in the trucking

division of the state railway commission, was chosen for the position with Home Owned Business association because of his record
in organization work in this city.

Legion Auxiliary

Makes Plans For

Poppy Day May 23

ORANGE, May 12.—Plans for

Poppy Day May 23 and for the visit of the national president of the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Ada Muckelstone, in Southern California next week were made at the meeting of the Orange unit yesterday at the clubhouse. Mrs. Muckelstone will be at the Army and Navy club in Los Angeles on May 15. It was announced.

Poppies will be sold on one day, instead of two days, it was decided. Mrs. Flora Fairbairn presided. Nomination of officers will take place at the next meeting on May 25 at 7:30 p. m., and a report given June 5. Election will be held in July.

HOLD RITES FOR CHILD

ORANGE, May 12.—Private funeral services were held at the Shannon funeral chapel yesterday for Hugh Danner Felts,
three-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs.
H. E. Felts, 9886 Magnolia drive,
Arlington. The child passed away
Sunday at a Riverside hospital following an operation.

Services were conducted by the Rev. M. H. Tjeen, pastor of a Riverside church and interment

when he was haled before City
Clerk Ed Vegely on a complaint of
a Santa Ana that he was selling
apples on Louise street north of Washington avenue, probably with-

Court Notes

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today planned to visit the scene of an accident at Buena Park
before deciding the $25,185 damage suit of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Terrill of Anaheim against Dr. H. M. Conner of Los Angeles county, which was heard in his court yesterday. Mrs. Terrill was injured in the crash.Mrs. Nellie Carpenter charged defection in a divorce suit filed in superior court yesterday against Preston L. Carpenter, whom she married at Mason City, Iowa, in 1903. They separated in 1928.Manual Proa was on trial today before Superior Judge G. K. Seovel charged with burglary of the Seal Beach school and the A. W. Stegen
Thomas, school official, and William F. Meyers, to whom Proa tried to sell the tools allegedly stolen from the school and garage, were among the witnesses.A. M. Kimber today brought suit in superior court against P. A.
Robinson and Ila Robinson, asking judgment for $1500 alleged to be due on a note.Mrs. Flo Fritts today filed suit in superior court against her husband, Orville Fritts, asking a divorce on grounds of non-support.
The couple wed at Oakland, Missouri, February 9, 1932, and separated at that place April 15, 1935.

Police News

G. Butler, 610 South Main, told sheriff's officers he sent a load of lumber Saturday from Costa Mesa to Trabuco canyon, where he fixing
a cabin; that the driver he hired, Raymond Alvarado, was arrested for drunk driving by California highway officers as he got to Irvine; that thieves stole 200 feet of lumber from the parked truck; that the thieves work cost him $15. He asked assistance in finding the lumber.Charged with unjustifiable punishment of a minor child, Ramon Higuerra, 55, of El Modena, was booked at county jail last night. He was arrested on a warrant by Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange justice court, and brought to jail by Constable George Bartley.Susano Ortego, 21, 502 Adams street, Delhi, was arrested last night at Halladay and Adams streets by Officer B. A. Hershey and booked at county jail on a drunk driving charge.

A. Nylander, 205 South Jackson street, Midway City, told sheriff's officers today that thieves walked into his unlocked garage last night and stole his 1934 Ford V-8 Tudor sedan, license 7-N-1405. An owner was being sought today for an abandoned Ford coupe, license 7-N-8049, found last night on Orangehorpe avenue. The abandoned car was impounded for safe-keeping.

Attempting to steal gasoline from

the car of State Highway Patrol Officer Oscar Kelly proved costly for Ernest Rangel, 29, and Tony Dominguez, 24, of La Jolla, Sunday night. Each is now serving a 30-day county jail term for vagrancy after their arrest. They were caught in the act of stealing the gas by Kelly. They were convicted in Anaheim court.

FALLS ON LECHE

BATON ROUGE, La., May 12.—

(UP)—Richard Webster Leche
(pronounced Lesh) became the 44th governor of Louisiana today, assuming control of the dictatorship set up by the late Huey P.
Long.

Describing himself as "225

pounds of Huey Long man," the youthful Leche took office with the power that was Long's, enhanced rather than diminished.

The occasion was made a Roman holiday, similar in its tone of emotional excitement, to that of Long's funeral and burial. Approximately 100,000 persons from all sections of the state were here.

ENGINEERS TO DECIDE WHERE
TO PLACE DAMSArmy engineers will decide where to locate dams in the $13,000,000
Orange county flood control project, and will tell the county what lands are wanted for right-of-ways,
the county supervisors were told today by George W. Malone, their consulting engineer on Newport harbor, who reported that both the flood control project and the harbor maintenance project occupy
very favorable positions before congress and probably will be approved.Malone recently returned from Washington, emphasized that the army engineers not only do the work but plan it. The $13,000,000 estimate for the flood control project does not include cost of lands, which the county must provide. The present estimate of $3,500,000 for that purpose, based upon 1929 valuations, can be greatly reduced, officials have estimated.Malone further revealed that, in the event that the projects bill now before the U. S. Senate is approved as expected, and then passes successfully through the conference with the House, and approval by the president, its actual construction will be spread over several years.The War Department appropriation bill, which would finance it,
would provide only enough to finance the first year's work, he said. The fact that congress had authorized the project, however,
would assure regular annual appropriations to complete it, he added.Orange county would doubtless have to provide for the lands and severance damages before the army engineers made a start on the project, according to Malone.The initial federal appropriation will not be made until the next session of congress, if the project is approved, as by the time the army engineers made their final survey and report, it would be too late for this session to act.The Newport harbor maintenance bill probably will not be introduced until the next session, because there are no other similar projects
coming before the present session, according to General Markham, of the War Department, said Malone.There appears to be no obstacle to the move for obtaining federal maintenance money for the harbor,
the engineer declared. The Rivers and Harbors congress has endorsed it.

Malone complimented both Food

Control Engineer M. N. Thompson
and City Engineer R. L. Patterson, of Newport Beach, for the completeness and clarity of the reports they prepared for Malone and Supervisor Willard Smith to present in Washington.

GASOLINE EXPORT

SETS NEW RECORD

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(UP)

—The California Oil Producers agency announced today that gasoline exports from the state in April were heaviest in three years.

Total for the month was 2,- 018,826 barrels, the most for any one month since July, 1933. This was 15,387 barrels daily greater than the April 1935 shipment.

Crude oil exports for the month

increased an average of 5308 barrels a day over April, 1935. Shipments to Pacific destinations rose 8824, while those to Atlantic ports decreased 6127 barrels.

Gasoline exports for the first four months of this year averaged 48,234 barrels daily, compared to 42,488 in 1935. Total exports of all petroleum, however, dropped 5307 barrels a day from the 1935

average of 158,066.

TREMENDOUS SALE OF GLY-CAS ENABLES PUBLIC TO PROFIT

New Advanced Medicine Offered Public at Price of Ordinary Remedies; Hundreds Laud Gly-Cas as "Greatest Ever"; Read What Mrs. Trowbridge Says.

Thousands of boxes of Gly-Cas are being sold throughout this section and the tremendous sale enabled its manufacturer to offer to the suffering public of this vicinity this new medical discovery

at the price of the ordinary medicines of today, within the reach of everyone.

Read what Mrs. Mary E. Trowbridge, 642 North Van Ness Street, Santa Ana, a highly respected lady of this vicinity, said recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, this city:

"Anyone who will give Gly-Cas a fair trial cannot help but receive amazing results," said Mrs. Trowbridge. "For five years I had been miserable with stomach trouble and constipation. Regardless of my diet gas formed after every meal I ate. Nothing seemed to agree with me. My liver was said to be practically dead but pained me all the time. My kidneys became affected, pained me terribly through my back and even extended down into my hips. I was terribly nervous, could not rest at night and laid awake by the hour. I was easily fatigued, had no pep at all. I constantly tried all kinds of medicines but to no avail. Finally I got a sample package of Gly-Cas to try and it helped me so much I secured a package to give it a good trial and found it wonderful."

"Now I am 100 per cent better in every way," continued Mrs. Trowbridge. "I haven't a single ache nor pain, sleep and rest well at night and feel as if new strength and energy has been put into my system. All those gas formations and intestinal irregularities have left me, my appetite has been restored and the foods I eat taste good. Only those who suffer as I have can understand what this new Gly-Cas has meant to me. It is one medicine that does not disappoint—it gives real results."

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, Santa Ana, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new remedy.

FAIRES AGAIN C. C. MEMBERS TO HEAD LIFE TO HOLD MEET UNDERWRITERS NEXT MONDAY

Acting favorably upon the recommendation of the nomination committee, all officers of the Orange County Life Underwriters association were re-elected at the regular monthly meeting of the organization yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

George E. Faires was re-elected president, Lloyd G. Rowell, vice president, and Rolla Hays Jr., secretary and treasurer. The nominating committee was Fred C. Rowland, chairman, R. G. Cartwright and M. B. Youel.

The meeting yesterday, which was a luncheon event, was held on the opening day of National Life Insurance week, being observed throughout the nation.

Floyd Forster from the home office of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company of Los Angeles, was guest speaker at the meeting. He gave an inspirational and educational talk on life insurance.

Secretary Hays made some announcements concerning Life Insurance week, and on behalf of the San Diego Life Underwriter's association, extended an invitation to all Orange county underwriters to meet with the San Diego group in the House of Hospitality on the exposition grounds where all-day sales meetings are being held.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, May 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wing, 837 East Palm avenue, entertained Sunday with a family dinner in observance of Mother's day. Mrs. Mary Kramer of Santa Ana being guest of honor. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kramer of Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kramer and son Jerry of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Maag and children, Billy, Marilyn and Edwin.

A membership meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, called to discuss the possibility of developing seacoast and scenic parts of the county as residence colonies for wealthy persons, will be held in the Green Cat cafe next Monday noon, it was announced today by Ray Goodell, chairman of the promotion and publicity committee of the chamber.

The speaker of the day will be Charles Horworth, field secretary of the All-Year club of California, who will discuss the subject under consideration. He will outline the things he thinks Orange county should feature to attract desirable residents to the county.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce yesterday, the matter of launching a program designed to attract wealthy persons to the county was discussed by Goodell.

Members of the board heartily approved the idea as presented by Goodell, and the membership meeting next Monday was arranged as a result of the presentation of the plan. It is believed by chamber men that Orange county offers advantages in recreation and for residence unequalled in the Southland. In addition to the advantages of the seacoast section, it is thought that purchase of citrus orchards by wealthy persons for country home estates would be advantageous to the county.

Chamber officials believe that if the plan can be worked out, value of orange land might be around $10,000 an acre instead of from $2500 to $3000 an acre.

A Pointed Tribute to Il Duce

Hands raised in Fascist salute grasped daggers, in this picturesque tribute to Il Duce, when Italian warriors solemnly dedicated to their leader in Rome another of the series of victories achieved in the steamroller advance of Mussolini's legions on Addis Ababa. Note that one of the saluting fighters is a mere boy.

FAMILY DINNER PARTIES HELD IN OLIVE HOMES

OLIVE, May 12.—Family dinner parties were held in Olive this week following special services at St. Paul's Lutheran church. Roy William, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heman, and Elroy Allen Russell, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Payan, were received into membership by the sacrament of holy baptism. Mrs. August Heinemann and Lester Heman served as sponsors for Roy William and Clinton Liefers, Frederick Klanner and Russell Burdick served as witnesses to the baptism of Elroy Russell.

In the same service Russell Burdick, Naomi Bochner, Eunice Klassen, Verna Heinemann, Frederick Klanner and Clinton Liefers were confirmed. The altar was beautifully decorated with palms and large baskets of white larkspur.

Family dinners were held in honor of the newly confirmed, Mrs. Carl Gollin entertaining for her niece, Eunice Klassen, with Mr. and Mrs. William Gollin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Guenther and son, Delmar, Mr. and Mrs. William Klassen and daughter, Irma, of Wasco; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blank, of Delano; Miss Helen Underhill and Mrs. Dorothy Collins, both of San Diego, as guests. Gathered at the August Heinemann home in honor of their grandson, Roy William Heman, and their daughter, Verna, and Clinton Liefers, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Liefers, Oscar Liefers, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Guenther and daughter, Phyllis, Mr. and Mrs. William Heman, of El Modena; Lester Heman and Miss Thelma Hoffman, of Escondido, and Mrs. Ferd Heman, of Orange.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klanner in honor of their son, Fred, erick, were Mr. and Mrs. Max Struck, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Struck, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Struck, and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Guenther and son, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Roby, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wurster, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lane, Mr. and Mrs. D. Klanner and Miss Ella Klanner.

For the confirmation dinner of their son, Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Burdick had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Stubbs, of San Diego, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huhman, of Santa Ana.

Rangers Search For Lost Daschund

Snoozle, two-year-old daschund belonging to Carol Jean and Jack Brinkerhoff, young daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brinkerhoff, 2027 Greenleaf street, disappeared Sunday when the Brinkerhoff family went to Silverado to spend the day at their cabin. Rangers have searched the canyon for the little chocolate brown dog without avail.

Snoozle is not an ordinary dog but she is of pedigree stock and came from a litter of pups of a dog owned by the late Will Rogers. Snoozle is scarcely a member of the canine family, Mrs. Brinkerhoff says, but is almost human. She is two years old.

Jack, the seven-year-old son of the Brinkerhoffs, believes if the persons who have Snoozle, only know how he is watching for her return, they would lose no time in restoring her to her home.

It is thought that Snoozle was picked up in the large crowd at Silverado Sunday, by someone who wanted to pet her, and that she was unable to find her way back to the cabin.

CHURCH GIVES 'PRISONER AT BAR' THURSDAY

Conviction of John Barleycorn by a jury of church people was freely predicted today as preparations were being made for the trial of that notorious character, alias Demon Rum, alias the Liquor Traffic, at the United Brethren church Thursday evening, May 14.

Presentation of the morality play, "Prisoner at the Bar," which has been shown at other churches here and elsewhere in Southern California recently, is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. on the date mentioned. The church is situated at West Third and Shelton streets.

The play, taken from actual court records, presents a chapter from the book of life. It is being used to initiate a new temperance educational campaign.

P. Albert North, of the dramatic department of the California Anti-Saloon league, will take the leading role of Ralph Jones, on trial for murder.

The Rev. Everett E. Johnson will play the part of the dignified judge and will order Bailiff Bob Smith to open court promptly at the appointed time. E. G. Warner will have the part of the sheriff, while O. M. Harrison will assume the role of the clerk of court.

The Rev. L. D. Meggers will act as the prosecuting attorney and W. J. Julian has been listed in the cast as the defense attorney. The jury is "packed," which does not bode well for John Barleycorn.

The following others are scheduled to appear in the court scene: Beverly Jo Anthon, as the prisoner's little daughter; Mrs. John Swafford, as the star witness; Russell H. Lutes, as the finger print expert from the police department, and a jury of 12 citizens who have been summoned to appear: Melvin McNeal, Mrs. L. D. Meggers, Harvey Pentecost, Charles Imm, Mrs. Mrs. Scott Wiles, W. A. Culbertson, William Hart, Harvey Hart, Beulah Wilson, Mrs. Nettie Davis, H. A. Colby and O. C. Dendle.

Admission to the trial will be free. A voluntary offering will be taken. Great interest in the trial was shown recently when more than 3000 people saw and heard the drama presented in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Los Angeles.

CHARLES SPICER IN OCCIDENTAL PLAY

Charles Spicer, son of Mrs. Charles Spicer of 2348 North Park boulevard, will appear in a program of one-act plays at Occidental college on Monday, May 18, under the direction of Kurt Baer Van Weissingham. Spicer, a graduate of Santa Ana high school, is a freshman at Occidental. He is majoring in economics.

The play in which Spicer will take part is "Hyacinth Halvey," and Irish satirical comedy of Nineteenth century small town life.

There are examples of the passing wave of uncapitalized, uncapitalized writing. But also there are some of the recognized verse forms including several quite charming sonnets. Some of the poems are distinctly lyrical, others have a pleasant robust quality. Some are romantic and filled with sentiment, others are almost narrative in form, so the whole volume is marked by a variety that will offer something of interest to the most captious reader.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Today we're out in the Golden West among the Indians. Two tribes live here—the Bear tribe and the Fish tribe.

The Bear tribe lie—can't and don't tell the truth, ever. The Fish tribe always tell the truth—can't and don't lie, ever.

A missionary meets three Indians. He questions No. 1 as to which tribe he belongs. No. 1 mumbles something so as not to be understood. Whereupon No. 2 says: "

BOOK DISPLAY MADE HERE BY ROBERT BROWN

Many interesting and beautiful things have found their way from time to time in the display windows of Santa Ana Book store, all of them allied in some manner to the world of books.

Just at present there is an unusual exhibit of books and illustrations from one of the few if not the only endowed publishing houses in the country, Suttonhouse Ltd. of Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York. The window is attracting a great deal of attention, for examples of the fine workmanship of the publishing house have been well arranged to display the beauty of type, paper, binding and illustrations, and the interest of the printed matter.

Several volumes are open at color plates, and in the background may be seen the actual illustrations by such noted artists as Willy Pogany and V. Ulanoff. Those by Willy Pogany, done with that deft touch that characterizes his work, and in which the charm of childhood is so marked, are for "The Wimp and the Woodie," a group of seven short stories for children selected by the staff of the School of Character Research of U.S.C. in a recent contest for juvenile literature. This was the Julia Ellsworth Ford contest, and there were six prize winners.

Among them was "Horns of Gur," by Maribelle Curmack and William Alexander, based on a Sioux Indian legend. This book was illustrated by Gordon L'Allemant, Los Angeles winner of several outstanding prizes in national art exhibitions, and well known in this city where he has been a frequent guest in the home of Frederick Elliott.

The V. Ulanoff originals shown in the display are for the Julia Ellsworth Ford book, "Imagina," one of the most delightful in the collection. All of these books have been selected by a group of judges interested in creating higher standards for the country's juvenile literature. On the list are Dr. Edwin D. Starbuck of University of Southern California; Dr. Edwin Ford Piper, University of Iowa; Dr. Hardin Craig, University of California; Chancellor John Bowman, University of Pittsburgh; and Percy Mackaye, poet and dramatist. The contest, an annual event in which awards totaling $1500 or more are made, was introduced by Julia Ellsworth Ford to "enrich the world with a real literature that does not talk down but with children."

In presenting the books in this city, Robert Brown of the Santa Ana Book store has called attention of Orange county librarians to the collection believing that they will find it of special interest.

But the Suttonhouse Ltd. books are not confined to classics of childhood alone. One of the most attractive in the window display is "The Wild Gardens of California," by Charles Francis Saunders, all that its title promises in the way of format and contents. Its binding is especially attractive with a tapestry effect in which rose and mauve flowers are apparent on a soft gray background.

The marbled scarlet and black of "Tsalms of Krishna" (Richard Caryle) with the cabalistic design worked in the binding, is equally striking. "Early California and Indian Life" is another that promises an hour's enchantment, so it may be seen that the output of Suttonhouse Ltd. is as varied as it is interesting.

Redlands Artist To Present Play In Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, May 12.—Mrs. Arthur T. Gage of the Redlands Contemporary club will be guest artist at the Woman's club meeting May 15. Mrs. Gage will present a playlet, assuming all the parts.

Mrs. Gage's last presentation was before her own Redlands club and many invitations have been tendered her to give other performances.

Farewell Affair Held for Visitor

GARDEN GROVE, May 12.—Mrs. Maud Burtenshaw was honored with an afternoon party recently when a group of friends gathered at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, on Verano road to bid her farewell before her departure for her home in Lebanon, Ore., after visiting here for the past six weeks.

The affair was planned by Mrs. Mina Newsom and included members of the Auld Lang Sang club and former friends of Mrs. Burtenshaw when she made her home here. The time passed pleasantly with chatting and sewing. Refreshments brought by the guests consisted of ice cream, cake and grape punch.

Present besides the honoree and sister, Mrs. Mitchell, were Mrs. Mina Newsom, Mrs. Glee Newsom, Mrs. Carrie Chaffee, Miss Mettie Chaffee, Mrs. G. R. Reyburn, Mrs. Estelle Harper, of Garden Grove; Mrs. Mabel Lowell, Mrs. Grace Finn, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Emma Wasson, of Tustin; Mrs. Edith Lane, of Long Beach and Mrs. Jennie Johnson, of Laguna Beach.

JIMMY FIDLER in —HOLLYWOOD—

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—Idle chatter: Marion Davies' portable dressing room has hot-and-cold running water; she could live in it shell description of Dixie Dunbar; quite comfortably, thank you. Nutt Armfully, Pat O'Brien imports 1000 cigars monthly from Cuba; smokes 15 a day and gives the others to his friends. Francis Lederer is spending about $1000 a month promoting his peace program. Mary Pickford is one of the largest stockholders in air transportation companies; the Fairbanks, whether they know it or not, contribute to her dividends when they fly. Mary herself never flies until she has consulted an astrologer.

Carpets in Jimmy Cagney's home are pure white; maids when cleaning them wear cloth covers over their shoes. Peace from the same pod: Edward G. Robinson and Harry Brand the publicity genius; they talk alike too. With servants all over the house, Dixie Lee Crosby still likes to answer her own doorbell. She says curiously impels. Katharine Hepburn is a crack tap dancer, but you'll probably never see her prove it. Many say (and he does not deny) that Mrs. Leslie Howard is largely responsible for her husband's success. She is an astute business woman, and some of his sharpest deals were manufactured by her mind and hand.

Trocadero the other night. Apparently he had popped something to her distaste, because Miss Bennett hit into him severely, to the general amusement of a large audience. At last the reporter asked Miss Bennett's husband if he intended to stand quiet and let his wife talk. "Everything she has said," squelched Markey, "goes double for me!"

Spencer Tracy has little patience with stars who take big salaries from the film industry, and then prate about how they are "pushed around." "They call the movies a lousy business," snapped Tracy, "while they ride in imported limousines the movies paid for. Some of these guys should have had stage stock training. Many years ago I played with a traveling troupe that hit a little Canadian town miles from nowhere. The manager came backstage after the last curtain and announced that the show was closed. 'What about money to get us back to New York?' one actor asked. 'I would know about that, son,' responded the stage manager. 'The guy with your money skipped town on the afternoon train.' Tracy grinned and shook his head. 'I've never yet heard an old stage trouper call the movies a lousy business,' he said.

On the subject of traveling road troupes, radio's Bob Burns' favorite story of his early thespian days concerns a piano-playing job for which he was to have been paid $2. After the performance, the theater manager glumly presented Bob with a lone silver coin. "But I was to get two bucks!" Burns complained. "You were terrible," screamed the manager. "I told you I'd be punk," maintained Bob. "Yeah," groaned the manager, "but not THAT punk!"

Board Of Education Elects 64 Santa Ana Teachers

SALARY RAISE FOR TEACHERS IS DISCUSSED

Election of 64 teachers in the Santa Ana school system featured a meeting of the board of education last night. Nine of the teachers secured permanent tenure. Teachers elected included 19 in the elementary system, 29 in the elementary system, four in junior college, two combination junior college-high school and one in the health department.

The matter of salaries for teachers in Santa Ana came up for discussion, and a suggestion of Superintendent Frank A. Henderson that the board name two members to meet with five teachers from the City Teacher's League to discuss salaries was acted upon favorably. The joint committee will meet in the near future to discuss possible upward revision of salaries.

The teachers were elected on recommendation of Superintendent Frank A. Henderson. There are but five teachers who taught last year who will not be teaching this year. One of these is Leland Auer, high school and junior college band teacher who is planning to go north. Auer also was director of the municipal band here.

Some Not Returning
The other teachers are not returning because there are nine teachers with permanent tenure on leave of absence who are coming back to teach. These include McKee Fish, former dean of the junior college.

John McCoy, journalism teacher at Jaysee, was given permanent tenure. Full time junior college teachers still probationary elected are Calvin C. Flint, Alvin T. Reboin and F. H. Schroeder. Byrnes Quiver part time Jaysee high school teacher, was given permanent tenure. Another Jaysee-high school teacher still probationary is Lucinda Griffith. Dr. B. F. Mock was named to the health department.

Other teachers securing permanent tenure are Marian Bruner, Robert S. Farrar and Reece Greene in the secondary system, and Katharine H. Blank, Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Alice McVey and Mrs. Donna A. Ward.

Probationary Teachers
Probationary teachers in the secondary system elected were: Margaret Glenn, Marion Grant, Alberta Greene, Val Jean McCoy, Mrs. Vivian Meeks, Mrs. Evelyn Minge, Arthurs Niswanger, Fanny Steel, Mary Jane Steel, Daniel W. Stover, J. M. Swarthout, C. L. Webber, W. W. Wieman, Mrs. Lucy Wright and Marjorie Woods.

Probationary teachers in the elementary system elected were: June Arnold, Mary R. Beasley, Helen Bower, Lenora Fernandez, Ruth Flitz, Dorothy Grist, Dorothy M. Jesse, Bonnie Kiser, Frieda Klar, Maren Leonard, Sada Mae Macauley, Eva M. Marshall, Majorie Anne Mathes, Lillian McDonald, Agnes McKinstry, Mrs. Ione Hanson Morrison, Mary Nalle, Rowena Newcomb, Eloise Owens, Howard Paul, Florence E. Stanley, Russell Sullivan, Emmett C. Thompson, Geraldine Williamson and Mrs. Marquerite Hill.

JOHNSTON PASSES STATE BAR TESTS

Word was received here today that Fred D. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dean Johnston, 2445 North Park boulevard, had successfully passed the state bar examination held in San Francisco in March.

Johnston is a graduate of Santa Ana high school and of Stanford law school. He was born in Orange county. He is expected to return to Santa Ana within the next few weeks to visit with his parents.

ADVANCE PLANS FOR JAYSEE FIESTA TO BE HELD MAY 15

Don John Ramirez and Dona Lois Murray will be "rulers for a day" when they preside over the ninth annual Santa Ana Junior college Fiesta, and act as hosts to the more than 800 Orange County high school students who are expected to be guests of the county seat school on May 15.

Miss Murray and Ramirez were elected by popular vote at the plebiscite held in Santa Ana last week. The Dona is secretary of the Spinners, women's service group, and has been especially active in extra-curricular affairs during her two years at Santa Ana. Ramirez is secretary of Los Gatos, men's service club, and has been active in engineering circles for the past two years.

Coronation ceremonies for Don and Dona will take place during the morning program to be held on the campus of the Santa Ana institution. They will be conducted by Father Owen of St. Anthony's cathedral in Santa Barbara. They will also take part in the afternoon program and will be in attendance at the dance and play that will conclude the day's activities.

The program will open with an address of welcome by Dr. Zaiser. Following the talk by Dr. Zaiser, Charlotte Hollister will play two piano solos and Mrs. Sally Cole Mueller will sing two vocal solos, and John Hart Stout will play a group of violin numbers before the principal address.

Graduating exercises for the nursing class of 1936 at the Orange County General Hospital School of Nursing will be held tonight in Ebell club auditorium, according to an announcement today by Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, superintendent of the hospital. The program will be open to the public.

Kyle Adams Rodenbaeck will be the principal speaker and will address the graduating class on the subject "The Business of Living." Rodenbaeck will talk just before Miss Grace Lansing, dean of nurses presents the graduating class.

To Award Diplomas
Following the presentation of the class Dr. Zaiser will award the diplomas and Mrs. Julia M. Salisbury instructor of sciences will present class pins to the graduates.

Nurses who have completed the training course and will graduate tomorrow night are: Celeste Alvares, Sarah Anderson, Rae Barber, Rita Collins, Elsie Davidson, Margaret Dorr, Dulcie Green, Elsie Ruff, Jean Smith, Rose Strickland.

EIGHT ENTER GUILTY PLEAS IN CITY COURT

A hit-and-run driver, drunk driver, reckless driver and five speeders, all of whom pleaded guilty, were fined yesterday in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court.

Nicholas Licerio, 29, of 419 North Daisy, whose car collided with a parked car belonging to Dr. S. H. Walkerdine, West Riverside, on South Main, was fined $150 for hit-and-run driving. A doctor's examination report declared Licerio was "slightly intoxicated" at the time, but he was not held on a charge involving intoxication.

Tom Matta, 35, 1048 West Fifth street, also was fined $150 after his arrest on a charge of drunk driving. Inventino Perez, Box 182, Westminster, paid $24 of a $25 fine for reckless driving. The speeders were James Roscoe Pyles, Ocean Front hotel, Newport Beach, fined $25 for driving 40 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone; Lawrence S. Todd, Route 2, West Chapman avenue, Orange, $8; Robert A. Patrick, 125 Bush street, Santa Ana, $8; William J. Platt, Claremont, $6, and Maurice Harris, San Diego, $8.

STATE PRESENTS DRAMA AND COMEDY

"Millions in the Air," a romantic comedy based on amateur radio programs, is teamed with "Dante's Inferno," a drama, on the entertainment schedule at Walker's State theater tomorrow and Thursday.

Wendy Barrie and John Howard head the cast in the comedy as a pair of youthful performers. Other players include George Barber, as a soap-selling sponsor of an amateur hour, Willie Howard, Dave Chasen, Benny Walker and Eleanor Whitney, as other contestants.

Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor and H. B. Walthall have the leading roles in "Dante's Inferno." The story is that of a man who rises to a position of wealth and power by trickery and deceit. Many tremendous scenes portray phases of Dante's "Divine Comedy." "Way Down East," with Rochelle Hudson and Henry Fonda, and "Collegiate," with Joe Penner and Jack Oakie, show for the last times tonight.

Saul Tells Of Benefits In Insuring

Safeguards thrown around life insurance policy holders were outlined today by Harold G. Saul, president of the Life Underwriters Association of Los Angeles, in connection with observation week this week. These safeguards are erected, he said, because the companies exercise the highest form of trusteeship.

"Your life insurance trustee has no idle dream of making you rich in terms of speculative earnings," Saul said. "He does plan to keep your insurance dollars intact, to earn the highest interest consistent with real safety and to have your money to pay to you or your beneficiaries when it is due.

Costs Reduced
"He also seeks to reduce the cost of your insurance whenever possible through higher earnings which are payable in the form of higher dividends. It is highly significant that today the earning rate on the entire investment portfolio of the life insurance company is considerably in excess of the rate at which current funds may be invested, so that the owner of a life insurance policy is in a better position than the man who is currently investing his funds.

"Safety for the funds of policy holders has always been the first consideration of life insurance executives in whose trust insurance funds have been placed," said Mr. Saul. "This accounts for their preference for conservative investments. The green grass of quick moving common stocks on the other side of the fence has not, and cannot lure your insurance trustees.

Met Obligations
"They have seen depressions come and go. They have witnessed the results to those seeking large profits. And, in pursuing their chartered course, they have met policy maturities through good times and bad. They have continued to pay dividends and to operate on a small expense margin. They have done this while making consistently conservative investments, because such investments, while returning only modest earnings, have corresponding low losses.

"The average man, with a few dollars to invest, is likely to seek quick profits," continued Mr. Saul. "He risks much to gain much and his large gains are all too frequently offset by heavier losses. The stock market record since 1929 is all the evidence one needs of this. But during all this troublesome period, the trustees of your life insurance funds continue to conduct business as usual, with a sound foundation of investments that were but little affected by a temporary depression, so far as ultimate values were concerned. They continued to lend you money on your cash values if you needed it."

GARDEN GROVE, May 12.—At the regular meeting of Garden Grove chapter of the O. E. S., to be held in K. of P. hall in Anaheim Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, entertainment will be furnished by members of Anaheim chapter of Job's Daughters, who will conduct installation ceremonies.

Noted Maker Of Candles Takes Booth

Pose Herrera, famous Mexican candle maker from Olvera street in Los Angeles, will occupy one of a score of booths that will be open to visitors at the ninth annual presentation of Santa Ana Junior college's Fiesta May 15, it was announced today by Bob Bradley, chairman in charge of booth construction.

The services of Herrera, who will have a complete stock of hand made candles on display, has been obtained by Beta Gamma, junior college extra-curricular honorary society. The old fashioned method used to make his candles has made Herrera famous throughout the southland. He still makes them by the hand dip method used by his ancestors centuries ago.

Augmenting the Beta Gamma project will be booths by all the men's and women's service clubs of the junior college. Final plans list the Spinners as selling ice cream; the Moavs, hot dogs; Piloteers, soda pop; and Meninas, Mexican candy. The Bucaenars, among the men's clubs will have a baseball throw for accuracy, and the Junior Lions plan to sell souvenirs of the occasion.

SILVERADO
SILVERADO, May 12.—Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Clark are spending the summer in Seal Beach returning to their Silverado cabin on weekends.

Mrs. Clarence Kerr and two children are expected home this week. They have spent some months in Dallas, Tex., and vicinity visiting Mrs. Kerr's mother and other relatives.

FARM PICNIC WILL FEATURE DRESS PARADE

Approximately 150 women, members of the Farm Home Department, will take part in the dress review to be presented during the annual Orange County Farm Bureau picnic to be held in Irvine park next Saturday.

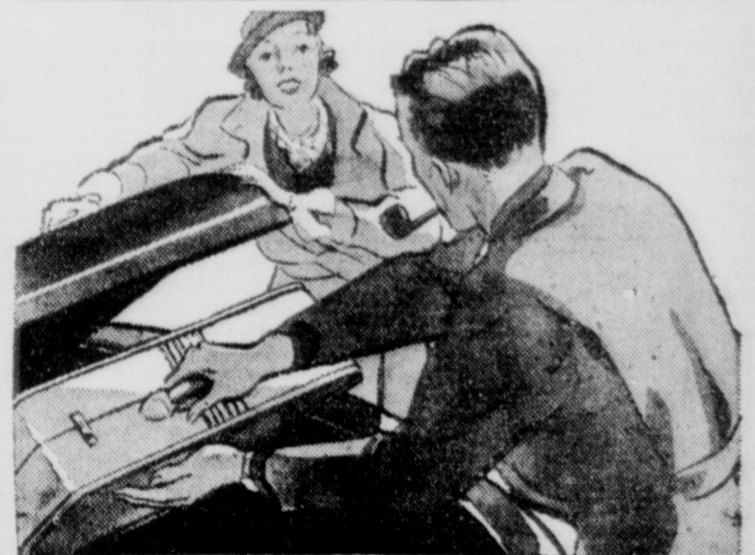

Announcement of the women's participation in the events was made today by Mrs. D. P. Leonard, of West Orange. The dresses to be displayed were made by the women, under the direction of Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Laura Schofield, of Buena Park and Santa Ana, first active chairman of the women's work in the Farm Bureau will have an active part in the program as will Mrs. L. A. Bortz, Orange, present department chairman.

WESTMINSTER
WESTMINSTER, May 12.—Clifford Rhea was a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rhea, in San Diego county.

Verd of the illness of Mrs. Anna Abbott, who is spending a few months in Colorado, has been received here. Mrs. Abbott is with a sister in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haas, of Fullerton, and their granddaughter, Sonia; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haas of Riverside, and daughter, Mrs. Adams, of Long Beach, and her son, Wester Adams, of Long Beach, were entertained as recent dinner guests by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr.

For a Better Vacation

TELEPHONE AHEAD

Hotels and resorts want to make you comfortable—want to have your accommodations waiting for you. Why not telephone that you're coming? It saves you inconvenience and unnecessary travel expense, enables you to talk things over and confirm arrangements.

While you're away this summer, telephone homeward also. Relieve anxiety—share the pleasure—enjoy back-and-forth conversation with those you love—and know that all is well!

There are telephones almost everywhere and the cost of a call is small.

Home Of Dean Is Opened To J. C. Faculty

Marked by that camaraderie that exists among those sharing the same interests, the bridge party at which D. K. Hammond, director and dean of Santa Ana Junior college, and Mrs. Hammond opened their home Saturday night to members of the college faculty and their respective wives or husbands was a most enjoyable event.

To the Hammond home at 3024 Victoria Drive, was lent the special grace of many flowers, for in addition to those which the hostess had selected from her own garden, were very lovely ones sent by Mrs. Alan A. Revell, Mrs. David Howell and Miss Frances Egge.

Amidst these many blossoms were arranged the ten or a dozen card tables for play, the prize for combined high scores of husband and wife went to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Scott, while separate high scores made by Miss Egge and by Harry P. Jackson, merited equally attractive gifts.

With bridge play concluded, Mrs. Hammond freshened the many tables with pretty refreshments with the assistance of Mrs. Revell, Mr. Hammond and Calvin C. Flint.

Mrs. Valley Presents Year's Last Review For Ebell Women

That ridicule is the effective weapon used in the Pulitzer prize play, "Idiot's Delight" by Robert Sherwood; that "Puritans in the South Seas" (Wright-Fry), is a well documented and authoritative history of missionary movements in those islands albeit the book for all its unconscious humor, may not have a wide reception; that "Arc-tic Adventure" (Pete Freuchen) is a truly delightful book deservedly a best seller that no one should fail to read, were some of the opinions advanced yesterday by Mrs. Jack Valley in her final book review of the Ebell society year.

Appearing before the clubwomen with her usual vivacity and that touch of drama with which she invests her programs, Mrs. Valley used "Woman Alive" as the introduction to her short talk on the present international situation. The book, she explained, is vastly different from the usual Susan Ertz novels, and serves to present the author's ideas of conditions of 1935, the era in which her characters project their images. She gave rather more detail to this book than others on her list, using it as a bridge to her conclusions regarding the present conditions in Europe by quoting recent utterances of political leaders in France, Germany, Italy and Great Britain.

That "volume of history" which she declared might be called the "Book of Versailles," closed, she declared, on March 7 with Germany's occupancy of the Rhine-land. Future volumes will be affected by the political upheaval which she predicts for France; the growing military power of Germany and her alliances with nations having raw materials she needs, and the swing towards democracy in Russia, which she declares is marked as Stalin and his advisers realize the necessity for a united country and a sense of patri-otism shared by workers, peasant farmers and the professions.

Mrs. Valley returned to a literary discussion by way of Erwin Shaw's play, "Bury the Dead," whose war atmosphere she pronounced magnificent, and reference to "Patriotism Prepaid" for veterans of future wars, which she states, actually has been incorporated in New Jersey.

"Around the World in Eleven Years" by those three unusual children, Patricia, Richard and John Abbe, she made sound very intriguing with its childish naivete and unconscious humor comparable only to the "Young Visitors." With few biographies on the spring list, she centered on "Rachel" by Bernard Falk as a remarkable story of the life of the greatest French actress in history. She was less complimentary regarding Charles Morgan's "Sparkenbroke," his first novel since the success of "The Fountain." Citing it as "too im-portant to overlook," she nevertheless expressed a complete lack of sympathy with or understanding of the book and of the writer.

"The Thinking Reed" (Rebecca West) she characterized as frank but admirable; "The World Over," Edith Wharton's book of short stories, she praised highly; Derick Lehmer's "Fighting Dick," a volume of poems based on historical fact and written with the rousing rhythms of old time balladry; "Threescore," the fine autobiography of that "fery radical," Sarah N. Cleghorn, and "The Diary of a Suburban Housewife" (Dorothy Blake), the type of book that inevitably calls for reading aloud—especially to unsuspecting and defenseless guests—completed not only her afternoon's reviews, but those of the current club year.

New Officers Elected By I. T. U. Auxiliary

Election of officers, party plans and initiation shared equal interest last night when members of the I. T. U. auxiliary were entertained in the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones, 1135 South Parton street, with Mrs. William Lawrence presiding and Mrs. F. E. Stilwell sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. V. C. Shidder was elected president to succeed Mrs. Lawrence, and will have as her sister officers, Mesdames E. W. Ellis, vice president; E. R. Kimmel, secretary; Clyde Calhoun, chaplain, and C. M. Marvin, guide.

Mrs. A. Kohler and Mrs. Neil E. Adams were initiated into membership, after which plans were made for coming events. The first of these will be a garden party and luncheon on May 25 at the home of Mrs. Jones, where all the guests enjoyed the hospitality of the home, and together sent the travelers away with a glowing feeling of friendliness. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Emory D. White and Miss Nancy White, Messrs. and Mesdames Lester Carden, Harvey Smith, Loyal King, Thomas H. Glenn, D. K. Hammond, Alan Revell, Harry L. Hanson, Ernest Crozier Phillips, Terry E. Stephenson, W. Braden Hells, Lloyd A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Flora Clark, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Spurgeon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Abbott of Pomona, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rice III of Alhambra, son-in-law and daughter of the hosts.

Golden Wedding Day Brings Festivities In Local Home

Fifty years ago, May 11, 1886, Miss Carrie Allen and S. A. Stonebarger were married in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Allen, Shelton, Nebr. Yesterday afternoon and evening, the golden wedding pair celebrated the 50th anniversary in their home, 825 North Olive street. Flowers, other gifts and greetings arrived at the home throughout the day. The 72 telegrams and letters received by the couple included messages from their children who live in various parts of the United States. The Stonebargers have ten sons and daughters, all living.

Guests at yesterday's open house celebration included Mrs. Stonebarger's sister, Miss Nettie B. Al-barger of Shelton, Nebr., who was present for the ceremony 50 years ago. The bride's cousin, Chauncey Cook of Shelton, Neb., who also was present for the wedding, sent greetings to the couple.

The Stonebargers have lived at their present address for the past 11 years, when they came to Santa Ana from Long Beach. They established their home in the beach city following their marriage, they lived in Buffalo and Hall counties, Nebraska, until leaving for California. Mrs. Stonebarger, whose birthplace was in Pennsylvania, went to Nebraska in 1872. Her husband, a native of Jasper county, Ill., went to Nebraska in 1884.

Sons and Daughters
Sons and daughters of the couple include Way Stonebarger, Grand Island, Nebr.; Ward Stonebarger, Kearney, Nebr.; Miss Eva Stonebarger, Long Beach; Mrs. Bernice Stonebarger, Gahagan, Nebr.; Ruth Stonebarger, Wood River, Neb.; Ruby Evans, Grand Canyon, Ariz.; Frank Stonebarger, Stockton, Calif.; Ben Stonebarger, Gibbon, Nebr.; Miss Blanche Stonebarger, San Diego; Lee Stonebarger, Fullerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stonebarger received a telephone call from their eldest son, Way Stonebarger, last night at 8 o'clock. The Stonebargers have nine grandchildren, one of whom, Gene Stonebarger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stonebarger of Stockton, was present for the celebration. There is one great grandchild in the family, the granddaughter of Way Stonebarger of Grand Island, Santa Ana, present during the afternoon and evening were Messrs. and Mesdames T. E. Tournant and son, Ivan; H. W. Guthrie, Vincent Horian, Harry Stearns and son, Harriet; Ray Snyder and son, Bruce; Mesdames J. F. Richards, John Ryan, E. Carhart, Ora Bol-ton and Milton Johnson. Miss Mer-tie B. Allen of Long Beach and Mrs. Edith Taylor of San Diego were among out of town guests present.

Mother's Day Event
The golden wedding celebration began on Mother's day, when Mr. Stonebarger and members of their immediate family gathered for a picnic at Irvine park. Among their children present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stonebarger and son, Gene, of Stockton, joining relatives who live in the Southland.

Their Lemon Heights home, they left for the boat from the Spur-gesons. Many of the group accom-panied them over to the harbor, including Messrs. and Mesdames Spurgeon, Abbott, Chenoweth, Car-den, Smith, Hanson, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Ronald Crookshank and Mrs. E. D. White, the latter after seeing Mr. White off on one of his regular trips to Montana.

Girl Scouts
Cardinal patrol members of Girl Scout Troop No. 4 shared a gay garden supper last night at the home of their captain, Mrs. George P. Ames, 610 South Ross street. Each member of the patrol made some special contribution to the supper menu. Present were Mrs. Ames and the Misses Dorothy Gar-ner, Doris Brown, Kearney Lauers, Mary Olive Tozier and Patsy Spagh.

Dinner Event
On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, 1522 North Broadway, were hosts, as-sembling a little group of close friends of the Wellingtons to dine, play bridge and talk travels past and future, actual and hoped for.

Mrs. Stephenson grouped the guests together at the dinner hour, arranging two tables in proximity in the dining room, glowing with rosy sweet peas and flickering candles. Covers were laid for the hosts and their guests of honor, together with Messrs. and Mesdames William H. Spurgeon Jr., Lloyd Chenoweth, Braden Finch, W. Bradford Hells, Thomas H. Glenn, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Miss Mary Parker of Los Angeles, Robert Northcross Jr. and Terry Stephen Jr. of the home.

Contract was introduced in the after dinner hours, but was second-ary in interest to the lively conversation regarding travel plans of the honor guests, and ex-periences thus called forth. Perhaps the most enjoyment was derived from the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Wellington of a whole array of small gifts for their use, en-joyment or amusement on the voy-age.

Buffet Supper
Again on Sunday evening, Col-onel and Mrs. Wellington's col-lege called forth a hospitality of equal interest when Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon main-tained open house at their home, 1617 North Main street, and served a buffet supper marked by the charm that such an affair connotes.

Guests dropped in casually dur-ing late afternoon and early eve-ning hours, took their seats at the table, and enjoyed the hospitality of the home, and to-gether sent the travelers away with a glowing feeling of friend-liness. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Emory D. White and Miss Nancy White, Messrs. and Mesdames Lester Carden, Harvey Smith, Loyal King, Thomas H. Glenn, D. K. Hammond, Alan Revell, Harry L. Hanson, Ernest Crozier Phillips, Terry E. Stephenson, W. Braden Hells, Lloyd A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Flora Clark, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Spurgeon's par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Abbott of Pomona, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rice III of Alhambra, son-in-law and daughter of the hosts.

Mrs. Rowland Re-Elected As Head Of Ebell

Important as the annual election, yesterday afternoon's meet-ing of Ebell society saw the re-turn to the presidency of Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, now completing a very successful and pleasant year in office.

The majority of Mrs. Rowland's officers had consented to have their names appear again on the ticket, so that when the secre-tary, Mrs. Dexter Ball, was in-structed by Mrs. C. V. Davis, tem-porarily occupying the president's chair, to cast the ballot, it was for the complete list of officers. These include with Mrs. Rowland, her vice presidents, Mesdames Charles Carothers, Lloyd Cheno-weth, Rex Kennedy and C. E. Bressler (new); together with Mesdames Dexter Ball, recording secretary; W. S. Thompson, corre-sponding secretary; Miss Mabel McFadden, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Smedley, curator (new) and the directors, Mesdames Wilbur Barr, J. I. Clark, William Maag and Her-bert Miller, re-elected, and Mes-dames R. C. Hollis and F. E. Farnsworth, (new).

Much interest was shown in a report on activities and improve-ments at the Day Nursery, and the clubwomen gave a ringing vote of appreciation to the unceasing efforts of Mrs. James Irvine in making such improvements possi-ble by her unremitting labors and plans.

Mrs. Rowland reported some of the generous gifts to the club, in-cluding $50 from Current Events section; $20 from Modern Poetry section; $50 from Third Household Economics section, and $100 from Modern Literature section. A "Jap-anese Afternoon" was announced for the May 25 meeting with one young Japanese woman as speak-er and a second to appear in na-tive dances.

After Mrs. Valley's review fol-lowing the business meeting, the majority of members lingered to enjoy the sociability of the student loan fund tea which the public affairs committee presented in the peace room under the direction of Mrs. Paul Bailey.

her plans for the event were Mesdames F. P. Jayne, Robert Northcross, B. H. Sharpless and Frank Henderson.

Asked to pour tea at a flower-garlanded table were Mrs. Rowland, president of the hostess society, and Mrs. John A. Tessmann, vitally interested as a member of the student loan fund for which the tea was a benefit. Assisting them were five of Ebell society's young matrons, Mesdames Lynn Crawford, Clif-ford Quisell, Clarence Hollis, Aubrey Glines and Marvin Bryte.

Dinner Hosts Receive At Initial One of Bridge Series

Presenting the first of a duo of spring dinner parties with which Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg will vary the succession of luncheons which Mrs. Flagg introduced last week, the hosts received a group of congenial friends last night in their home, 1320 North Broadway.

As was to be expected for a springtime affair, flowers ar-ranged throughout the home were used usually lovely, and in California gar-dens displaying prominent place-dens. Occupying prominent place-dens all the vivid blooms, was the great cluster of gladioluses which had been a Mother's Day gift to Mrs. Flagg from her fam-ily.

Dinner was served at small tables, each spread with snowy linen and a single touch of color given by tall dinner tapers which soared from crystal candlesticks, and which matched the surround-ing blossoms in delicate colors. Mrs. Riley Huber and Miss Jim-mie Flagg, daughters of the hosts, accomplished the serving.

Covers were laid for the hosts and for Messrs. and Mesdames W. B. Williams, F. E. Farnsworth, Wade Warner, C. V. Davis, Alvin Nowotny, Ray Chandler, Clair T. Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Har-wood, Mrs. Marguerite D. Borg-meyer, Mrs. Sara Johnston Had-don and J. B. Tucker. Mrs. Tucker remained at home in order to be in communication with her young daughter, Barbara, who so recently underwent an appendec-tomy at St. Joseph hospital.

The first three high scores in contract bridge were made by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Nowotny and Mrs. Haddon, with similar scores among the men recorded by J. B. Tucker, Dr. Harwood and Mr. Nowotny.

Mr. and Mrs. Flagg have issued invitations for a similar dinner party on the night of May 25.

Sunday Night Supper Is Compliment to Engaged Couple

Miss Faye Bortz, 404 North Con-ter street, Orange, and Thomas Glick, of Santa Barbara, who will be married June 14, inspired a sup-per of pretty appointments Sunday evening in the Pasadena home of Miss Sylvia Osborn, 1709 North Hill street. Miss Osborn and August Larson joined in entertaining for the engaged couple, planning special features to honor the bride-elect and Mr. Glick as well.

Between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening, guests assembled in the patio of the home, where fruit punch was served in advance of the supper hour. Small tables in the dining room was centered with tapers in crystal holders. Miss Bortz and members of her im-me-diate family were seated at a can-dide-decked table brightened with flowers. Lace-fringed place cards and favors were in keeping with a springtime motif.

Contract bridge was in play, with prizes going to Miss Virginia Webb and Thomas Glick, who held high scores; Mrs. Sid Grassie and Rich-ard Parker, low.

Shower Gifts
Gifts in Sylvan cameo crystal were presented to the bride-to-be, who was directed to a decorated table where shower packages were concealed by a pink parasol. This interval of the evening brought a double surprise to the engaged young couple, since Mr. Glick was honored with a canned goods shower.

For the pleasant occasion, Miss Bortz wore a poudre blue dotted swiss frock, with a pink corsage bouquet.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein, Mrs. Polly Blower, Miss Irene Blower, L. F. Holmes, Miss Marjorie Berkner, Robert Chapman, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parker, Mack Serrurier, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Schilling, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Grassie, Miss Frances Vaskaski, Sherman Trusty, Sylves-ter Huhtala, with the hosts, Miss Osborn and Mrs. Larson, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. James Kohl, Miss Margie Bortz, Huntington Park; Wallace Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ritchie, Los Angeles; Miss Irma Meyer, El Monte; Mr. and Mrs. William Schilling, Virginia Webb, Glendale; Miss Margaret Giacomazzi, Sunset Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bortz, Bortz.

Daughters of Veterans Entertain Mothers At Luncheon

Their annual complimentary luncheon to mothers was an en-joyable event given Thursday in First Christian educational build-ing by members of Sara A. Rounds tent D.U.V. who invested the af-fair with all the charm that flow-ers, program and hospitality could give.

Mrs. Lena Hewitt, program chairman, told of the origin of Mother's day, and Mrs. Jessie Over-ton, president, expressed formal welcome to the mothers entertain-ed. Mrs. George Campbell re-sponded to this on behalf of the guests.

Musical numbers were all on the theme of the day celebrated, and Miss Carrie Stanton was at the pi-an-o to accompany the soloists. Mrs. Cora Graham sang "Wonderful Mother of Mine" and Mrs. Eliza-beth Hubbard sang "Flowers For You" and "Mother Darling."

Mothers were then introduced and as each one was presented she was given one of the French bou-quets that had formed such a col-ourful mound of flowers in the center of the tables.

Among those to be credited for success of the event were Mes-dames Addie Gardner, Eva Bell, Luella Hill and Edith Moore, re-ception committee; Miss Minnie Cowan, Mrs. Olive Willard and Mrs. Harriet Mitchell, decorations committee; Mrs. Ben Baker, invi-tation, and Mrs. Geraldine Beall, luncheon chairman.

Harmony Bridge Club

Following a Dutch treat lunch-oon recently in the Green Cat cafe, members of Harmony Bridge club adjourned to Masonic temple for a session of cards. Prizes were won by Mesdames Al Adrain, Nellie Young, and Jane Morse, who held the three highest scores.

Mrs. Walter Wright conducted business matters in the absence of the president, Mrs. Glenn Lyan. Mrs. John Bruns invited the group to meet with her, 314 Coronado street, Balboa Beach, May 19 for covered dish luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. This will be a white ele-phant party.

Orange: Ralph Worth, Arcadia: Miss Genevieve Campbell, Buena Park: with the betrothed couple, Miss Bortz and Mr. Glick.

THE TWINYMITES

The old prospector's bird was strong. Said Duncy, "Take me right along. I don't know where you're bound for, but I have a happy hunch."
"The Twynmites are far away, but we will get to them today. I certainly will be real tickled when I join the bunch."
"My good friend, the prospector, sent you out for me. 'Twas his intent to save me from a long hike. That's my guess. I'm sure I'm right."
To all the Tinies he's been kind, and there's no place where you will find a finer man. You've saved me from a very scary plight."
The bird just chirped, and flew along. For quite a long time naught went wrong. Then, up above, some black clouds gathered, blotting out the sun.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

LINER BOUGHT WITH COAL

ITALY built the new Polish liner, Pilsudski, and got for it, not gold, but a medium of barter that is even more valuable to the Italians—coal.
The purchase inaugurated Poland's entry into modern transatlantic travel. From the Polish seaport of Gdynia, the Pilsudski now speeds to New York in 8½ days. The trip formerly required 12 days. The ship is a twin Diesel-motored express liner, with gyroscopic equipment and other modern travel features. It is 514 feet long, displaces 16,000 tons, and accommodates about 800 passengers.

On the Pilsudski's initial trip from Gdynia to New York, in September, 1935, Poland issued a special stamp picturing the liner. It is shown below.

News Of Orange County Communities

New Lighting System Planned For Beach City

COUNTY LIFE GUARD PATROL IS PROPOSED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 12.—Plans and specifications for properly lighting the business and beach areas at night are to be prepared by a special chamber of commerce committee and submitted to the city council as soon as possible.

Members of the new committee were appointed last night at a meeting of chamber of commerce directors and include Victor Terry, Arthur Frost and S. H. White.

The plans will include adequate illumination for the business district and Ocean avenue and flood lights for the beach. According to directors of the chamber of commerce, they propose to ask for beach illumination to make night bathing possible.

The directors also adopted a resolution to be submitted to the county supervisors asking organization of a county life guard service to patrol the entire coast line. According to the plan, the guards would protect the entire coast line with a signal system, making it possible to concentrate guards and life saving equipment at any point on the beach in time of emergency.

The cities would continue to patrol the municipal beaches with the only requirement placed on the county, that of employing guards to patrol beach areas outside incorporated cities and to assist in installation of the signal system.

Nazarene Pastor Leaves For Valley

MIDWAY CITY, May 12.—The Rev. J. A. Wooton preached his farewell sermon at the Nazarene church Sunday morning, the Wooton family leaving yesterday for Brawley, where he has been accepted as pastor.

The Rev. and Mrs. Murray Pallette, of Los Angeles, who take over the work in Midway City, will move here at once. A 60 per cent gain in membership is reported for the time of the Rev. Mr. Wooton's pastorate and all church bills have been liquidated in full.

Banker Talks to 4-H Club Group

LA HABRA, May 12.—The La Habra Boys' 4-H club met Monday evening at the home of Jim Launer and heard a talk on "Farm Budgeting" by E. B. Demarest of the local branch of the Bank of America.

The club had 100 per cent attendance. Members gave their project reports and discussed a community project for the club. The demonstration team is to give a butter fat testing demonstration before the local farm center May 25.

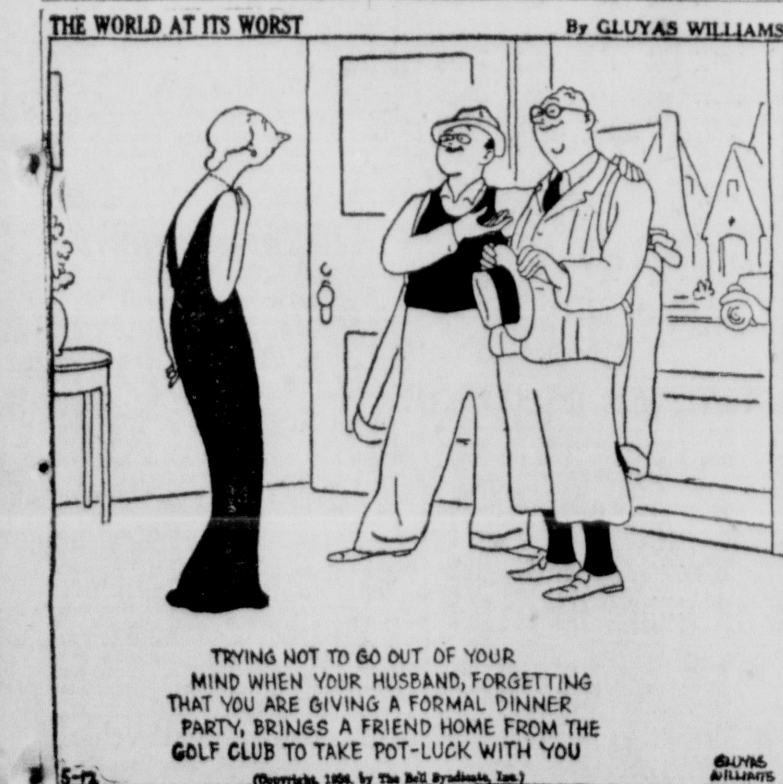

Following the meeting, games were played and refreshments of chocolate sundaes and cake were served.

Plan Centralia P.T. A. Ceremony

CENTRALIA, May 12.—Officers for the new year of the P.T. A. will be installed with the regular group session tomorrow at the school house.

Mrs. Lyman Booth will begin a second year as president. Other officers are Mrs. Clarence Curtis, vice president; Mrs. T. N. Colbaugh, secretary; Mrs. Rose Davis, treasurer, and Mrs. D. B. Craven, auditor.

The Danish flag, a large white cross on a red field, is the oldest unchanged flag in existence.

Laguna Play Slated For Last Of May

LAGUNA BEACH, May 12.—The newly formed P.T. A. Theater guild announces its first presentation, to be given May 29 in the high school auditorium. The play, "Outward Bound," was a success on Broadway several years ago and deals with a weird, macabre theme. Special scenic effects are being completed for the showing.

Personnel of the new group includes Mrs. F. B. Morris, president of the Parent-Teacher association of Laguna Beach; Mrs. Mary Langley Herriek, in charge of production; Mrs. Annette Arnold as business manager, and Edward J. Eberle, art and scenic details.

Direction of "Outward Bound" will be in the hands of Mrs. Marjorie Williamson, formerly of the Pasadena Community playhouse and recently connected with Laguna Beach Community players.

REUNION HELD BY GREENVILLE CHURCH

GREENVILLE, May 12.—Combining a reunion of former members of Greenville Methodist church, south, with the final quarterly conference of the year, Mother's day was observed Sunday at the church.

The presiding elder, Dr. J. A. B. Frye, delivered the sermon, taking as his subject, "The Mother of Moses," and paying homage to all mothers in his talk. A mother's song was given by seven children of the Sunday school, while an adult choir rendered the song, "Tell Mother I'll Be There." Six children gave a reading entitled, "Mother."

As the Greenville church is one of the oldest in Orange county, this was featured in a period of talks. Those speaking included Chester Nuckolls, of San Bernardino; Alfred Cole, who assisted in erecting the church building in 1878; R. L. Obarr, of Westminster, who told of his two uncles, the Rev. Charles Harris and the Rev. J. M. Rogers and his own father, R. L. Obarr, being engaged on this same work. Mrs. Belle Nuckolls' father, the Rev. C. C. Wright, was an early day pastor of the church. Mrs. M. E. McClintock, now of Santa Ana, but for many years a resident of the Greenville section, and Mrs. E. S. Wakeham, of Santa Ana.

The business meeting of the church was followed by dinner, members of the congregation having brought covered dishes and ice cream was added to the menu by the present Sunday school superintendent, Jake Shiffer, who arranged the plans for the reunion.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 12.—Two men are in jail here charged with petty theft and two more are in the Orange county jail serving 10 days each on charges of intoxication as the result of an asserted attempt to raid the rabbit pens of Mr. and Mrs. J. George, 303 Wesley avenue, Sunday night. One of the men is nursing a leg full of buckshot.

The men in custody are Bryant Chapman, 32; Bonnie Young, 32; Oscar Lilienkamp, 46, and E. G. Nelson, 40, all of Long Beach. Young and Nelson pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Chris P. Pann to charges of being intoxicated and were fined $20 each with the alternative of spending 10 days in jail. Both men took the jail sentences. Chapman and Lilienkamp were to be arraigned today on petty theft charges.

When arrested Sunday night Chapman was treated for buckshot wounds in the leg as he was shot when George fired at the quartet.

THAT MOUNTAIN CABIN

Oh for a trip to the mountains! But what's a trip if you haven't a cabin, and where's the excuse for not having a cabin, when $1000 will purchase one, fully furnished and well equipped on government lease at Santa Fe National Forest, with an accompanying car at South Fork in San Bernardino Mountains? Will exchange for new car.

"THE WILSHIRE OF SANTA ANA"

THE ISSUE OF PATERNALISM

"Guest Editor" today is The Rev. Julia N. Budlong, Pastor of the Unitarian church of Santa Ana. The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

Every issue, personal, political or economic, is, in the last analysis, a moral issue. The exceptions are too few to be important and are generally only superficially exceptional, at best. The issue of "Paternalism" versus "Individualism," already rearing its head through the mists of the gathering campaign, is no exception.

Is it right for a country to provide care and assistance to its citizens? Should citizens be shielded from the effects of a bad investment, by R. F. C. loans and bank deposit guarantees? Should we be helped to build homes? Be provided with cheap water, power, transportation, education? Should Labor be protected from the consequences of inexorable laws of demand and supply? Should Industry be protected from foreign competition by tariff barriers? Should unemployed citizens be fed and clothed at government expense, whether by boondoggling or a dole?

Offhand it is easy to answer, yes. The more aid and comfort a country can supply its citizens, the better all around. Let the government be a kindly father to us all, if not a genuine Santa Claus.

But immediately the advocate of individualism enters a demurrer. Such a state, he avers, is Paternalistic. And Paternalism is nothing but disguised autocracy. Feudalism and Slavery are both Paternalistic. Both systems tend to weaken the protected and debauch the protector. Under democratically controlled Paternalism the weak are relieved of the necessity of meeting competition and permitted to increase in numbers and in weakness; the strong are deprived of the advantage accruing from the development of their strength, and so become weak themselves. The citizenry therefore degenerates into helplessness and dependency and is eventually captured by a strong, despotic ruler. Serfdom and slavery result.

Under this analysis Humanitarianism is in the end the most cruel and stupid brutality. Harsh as are the results of cut throat competition and individualism the end result is not so appalling as the end result of government interference in the interests of the weak against the strong.

For evidence, these critics point to the declining birth rate among the upper middle class and the sharply increasing birthrate of families on relief. One group is being taxed to support the other. The helpless increase, the helpless die off.

Must we then cease to use our government to protect the weak against the strong? And to what extent must we go in order to be thoroughly consistent? Shall we abolish our police protection along with our tariffs, agricultural aid and the W. P. A.? The solution would seem to lie somewhere in the realm of Relative Values. How much "strength" must we sacrifice for how much "security"? How much "individualism" for how much "co-operation"?

In this conflict of values, the ethical idealist steps forward with his yard stick. "Freedom" in the industrial or political world, must be measured by the same standard as personal freedom. And "personal freedom" ends where it begins to interfere with our fellows. We can swing our arms and legs to our heart's content until they hit somebody. We can take unto ourselves the good things of this earth, until, in the taking, we are taking them away from somebody else. And when we begin to interfere with our fellows the State must intervene to protect the weaker party in the conflict, and to maintain order. Under any other arrangement Competition very quickly develops all the vices of so-called "Paternalism." The "strong" enslave the "weak," as truly under a wage system as under Feudalism and industrial autocracy becomes as absolute as any war lord or demagogic dictator.

I have a right, then, to be protected by my government if I am genuinely helpless before the inroads of my fellow citizens, or the juggernaut of modern economic and financial organization. But Paternalism becomes a menace when it supplies "protection" that is not truly needed; when it protects any citizen or group of citizens who could well enough protect themselves by a little added effort; when, in short, it is not Protection at all, but a tool used by indolent citizens to win a selfish advantage in what ought to be an open field.

Who, then, are the "helpless" within our present body politic? But that requires another editorial!

A DUCK AND A DOG

Mayhap you read the story in last night's Register of "Pete," the quackless duck, and "Inky," its canine companion—a tale of strange friendship between dog and fowl.

To be able to read a homespun yarn wherein two of earth's underlings—of widely separated families—strike up a dooryard companionship, is a might of mental balm in a world filled with noisy insanity.

There was nothing in the story about tottering empires; no spilling of blood from the daily police blotter; none of the heartaches, sorrows and tragedies recorded in the complex battle of existence.

Personally, "Inky" and "Pete" have nothing to contribute to society. Nothing is to be gained from their story that will add in the solution of weighty problems.

But, there are so many things wrong and difficult in the world, so many serious tasks to be performed that one should be ready to tackle them with a new charge of vigor after brief surcease, such as offered by the reading of this simple, homespun page from the lives of "Pete" and "Inky"—a duck and a dog.

EXHAUSTING OUR ENERGY

Frank Garbutt wisely explains the right of a citizen to criticize, even if he has no plan to offer. He says in the L. A. Times:

"Suppose you had better plans to offer—what would you do with them?"

"The first step toward improvement is criticism. Plain fault finding, if you choose to call it that. The man who intelligently criticizes himself is the man who improves. The self-satisfied fail to progress."

"Criticism of conditions is a duty everyone can perform even though it be beyond his power to improve them. The recognition of wrong is the first step toward its cure. If enough people recognize it it will be corrected."

"Contrary to popular belief, no plans are better than wrong plans. To do nothing is less harmful than to do wrong. Traveling in the wrong direction or in circles never saved anyone lost in a blizzard. It only exhausted his powers of resistance."

WITH WHOM ARE YOU ASSOCIATING?

The kind of education you will receive largely depends upon those with whom you associate. The importance of selecting your associates, means more than the average boy or girl realizes. This point was well illustrated in a short statement made in an address at Founders Day Anniversary of Davidson College. The speaker was referring to the qualifications and abilities of the founder, James B. Duke. This statement was made: "There his splendid mentality made him a rare conversationalist, whom to hear was a liberal education."

If you do not have the opportunity of hearing men talk with splendid mentality, then do not waste your time on men who do not think clearly. Go to the books written by men with splendid mentality. They are at the disposal of anyone seeking to stand at their feet.

TOMORROW'S NEWSPAPER

Whatever you may expect of the newspaper of the future, it is interesting to visualize it through the eyes of the modern educator. Take, for example, Dr. Garrey C. Myers, head of the department of parent education at Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Dr. Myers sees tomorrow's newspaper as a real "educational institution," being used as an instrument in the classroom to supplement textbook material. The increase of syndicated columns covering a wide range of human discussion is a definite trend toward a more "educational" newspaper, he believes.

There undoubtedly is vast opportunity for newspapers to become more and more an educational force and thereby to render increased public service. Can we doubt that the country's editors will accept the challenge?

A LONG WAY TO GO

When we read of the cold-blooded murder of Mary James by the five-times married husband, Robert James, by snake bites and drowning, one realizes the depravity and extreme selfishness that still exists in our midst. It is just another example that proves we cannot yet have blind confidence in the goodness and fairness of our fellowman. We must still require severe punishments for unsocial acts and the punishment must start in small crimes to prevent the crime from becoming bigger and bigger. It certainly brings home to us that this is no fairland in which we are living; that this is a land of reality and not sentiment; that emotion and good wishes will not solve our problems.

It certainly is an example of what people will do for money.

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—From time to time it is reported that Professor Tugwell isn't in as high repute as he used to be with President Roosevelt, that he is "on the way out," and that the inner circle of the administration advisers are eager to oust him, at least for the duration of the campaign.

But the truth of the matter appears to be that Professor Tugwell comes and goes at the White House frequently, and while he is scrupulously avoided the limelight, the Tugwell philosophy is more dominant today than at any time since the New Deal began. As a matter of fact, Dr. Tugwell knows more about what the New Deal's true purposes and objectives are and has more brains than anybody else in the New Deal without exception.

Take, for instance, the tax on undistributed corporate surplus, with which the senate is now struggling and which it will modify somewhat for this year only as a sop to conservative opinion during the campaign. The significant development is that the principle is to be maintained, which means that, once it becomes embodied in our tax system, it is a simple matter to elevate the rates and go on to the other sequel which form a necessary part of "economic planning" as Dr. Tugwell and others in the New Deal envision it. The new tax has been championed by Dr. Tugwell as vital to reform.

To understand the meaning of the proposed tax on undistributed surplus in relation to other reforms yet to come, as, for instance, the "allocation of capital," it is necessary to go to the foundation of the New Deal concept, described so effectively by Dr. Tugwell in his book "Industrial Discipline," published 1933 by Columbia University Press and followed since then by many legislative acts that have brought the doctrines into actual operation. It will be noted that some form of organization of industry into codes, as tried under the NRA and as shortly to be revived under other legislation "planning" as the word is so often used by New Dealers. Dr. Tugwell writes:

"Capital allocation would depend upon knowledge, from some planning agency, of how much for a measured future period ought to be put to one use rather than to another. Given this information, the first step in control would be to limit self-allocation. This is the first great problem in this field."

"Assuming, however, that each industry had its various firms closely associated for practical action, how then would the problem be attacked? In general the principle involved would be to derive corporate surpluses into the open investment market; for most of the trouble comes from self-allocation occurring strictly within a single organization. It is over-optimistic internal expansion and the use of funds, earned in the past, to commit the concern to increased activity which cause the problems of surplus which yearly grows more acute."

"To meet this problem, it is frequently suggested that a tax be imposed on funds, over and above replacement, which are kept for expansion purposes. If taxation forced these funds into distribution as dividends, they would have to seek investment through the regular channels, and a concern's plans for expansion would be subject to check in the investment market."

"Once all funds were forced into the investment market, however, some other means of supervising their uses would be needed. This might be done through the federal incorporation of businesses. For new capital issues, then, revision of original charters would be necessary. An alternative to this sometimes suggested is a tax on unused capital which those who argue for it believe would achieve many of the same results."

Now, since Dr. Tugwell wrote his book, the federal government has assumed the right to control the issuance of new capital securities, and judging by the way the SEC construes its powers and functions, the government could very easily embark upon a program of telling each industry or business how much capital or capacity it might or should use. But to continue the Tugwell doctrine, in the light of what is happening today with the bill for a tax on undistributed surplus:

"If funds were thus forced into the open market, and if there were control of new capital issues, the problem would be as adequately met as seems necessary to the advocates of the general idea."

"It will be seen, then, that the control of investment is not so complex a matter, at least in principle, as it might at first seem. The principles involved would be only two: The forcing of all investment funds into an open market, and the regulating of new capital issues."

"Neither of these seems impossible if we grant (1) the substitution of federal for state incorporation, and (2) the correctness of using the taxing power to force surpluses into the market."

Dr. Tugwell's idea of using the taxing power to force the distribution of surpluses may have seemed to him in 1933 to involve perhaps some doubt as to constitutionality, but since that time the New Deal has determined to legislate first and litigate afterwards anyway, so legal obstacles are no longer terrifying to the planners. Indeed, a bill to compel incorporation of businesses has been introduced in both houses and has the backing of the American Federation of Labor, which no doubt feels that its opportunity to force higher wages would be increased because of its political leverage upon anything the federal government controls directly or indirectly. Dr. Tugwell's viewpoint on federal incorporation is thus expressed:

"If industries were to be controlled, incorporation of business enterprises would need, in effect, to be transferred from the states to the nation, though some subterfuge might need to be employed; the flow of new capital into different uses would need to be supervised; prices would have to be controlled; and some vital interests, now partly or wholly neglected, would need to be protected. These last would include the weaker businesses, consumers, workers, farmers, and technicians, all of which suffer now from disadvantages and discriminations which are too obvious to be denied."

"All these seem, from the present point of view, necessary elements of a scheme which would give the federal government power commensurate with the responsibilities widely laid at its doorstep."

There is something forthright about the Tugwell writings. Read now in the light of what has happened, the only criticism that might come from Tugwellites is that the New Deal has compromised, halted, wavered and floundered instead of crashing through with every one of the fundamental precepts of "economic planning," which, in German and Italian Fascism, has had at least the benefit of a consistent evolution of all parts of the program at the same time.

For political reasons, the New Deal will not venture to do it, but the man who can write the best platform for the New Deal party to be adopted at the Philadelphia convention is the young professor of economics who is the true author of most of the New Deal principles of the last three years.

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

My sister Gladis and Harvey came over last night and showed them the new picture she saw in Hookbinders art department, saying, "It's a genuine original Zinker, and only 14 dollars, doesn't it seem ridiculous?"

That was my first impression, and it still persists, pop said, and Gladis said, "Imagine, a Zinker."

Who's Zinker? Harvey said. Is he one of those fellows in side-shows that paint with their toes? he said, and Gladis said, "He paints with his brain, and I wish you'd talk with yours. Look at that brush work, isn't it marvelous? I just wonder how he does it?" she said, and Harvey said, "Have you decided what to name it?"

It's been named by the artist, naturally, na said. It's called "Civilization in Chaos," and once you know the title and look at it for a little while, you realize it couldn't possibly be called anything else."

It certainly is the very spirit of frustration, Gladis said, and I said, "G, ma, that reminds me, you got a postal card from Hookbinders today. That's what made me think of it, it's about that picture, here it is, I said."

Meaning in my pocket, and I gave it to her and she read it, saying, "Well of all things, how stupid. It seems that this is a picture called 'Truncated Thawts' by somebody named Wineglutz, and the salesgirl said it as a Zinker by mistake, and they've credited my account with 6 dollars, na said."

Yee gods, bunkated wowie, pop said, and Harvey said, "Art is long but Zinker is fleeting."

O, come on and play bridge, ma said.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

A TRINITY OF NEEDS

A thousand and one factors of personal and group desires will muddle the thinking of millions of Americans as they perform the sacred office of suffrage in the 1936 election.

The pure—or maybe impure—is a more accurate adjective—politician will resort to all his chronic tricks of character assassination and diversion of the public mind from real issues.

Many isolated bits of legislation and administrative device will be inflated into issues.

Never has it been so important to cut beneath the surface to the real issues.

At the risk of repetition, I want today to call attention to what seem to me to be the real issues at stake in the 1936 campaign.

Here, I suggest, are three things we Americans must do in the 1936 campaign if we are to be able to look with any degree of assurance upon the national future.

First, we must preserve ourselves as a self-governing democracy at all costs.

Second, we must scourge the demagogues from the temple of leadership.

Third, we must utilize instead of sabotage the instruments we have invented for providing plenty for the masses.

I would be the last American to suggest that anyone now in control of political power is deliberately seeking to overturn American self-government in the interest of Fascism or Communism. But there are many trends resulting from the emergency policies of the last few years that may well give us pause. The annihilation of power to the White House. The growing policy of trying to liquidate this opposition by character assassination. The emergence of a sinister secret police-spy system through the Black committee and other agencies. And so on.

The demagogic practice of buying votes with promises that can never be fulfilled bears watching. And surely we are about to admit that we can never raise the living standard of the masses by putting a stiff bit in the mouth of production. This life of austerity and the economics of scarcity hardly go together.

The 1936 campaign will test our capacity as a people to look beneath the surface of machine politics.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Now that the sun rises higher and shines upon us longer, sun-bathing is general. A word of caution may not be amiss. Be very careful about exposing yourself to the sun's rays the first few times. Begin with a few minutes' exposure. Sensitive skins, having been covered for many months, burn easily, and it is not good to burn the skin. So much for the older sunbathers.

Children have to be carefully managed during the sun-bathing season lest their skins be burned and sickness result. I would never expose a baby to full sun without his physician's directions. It is not safe. Consult the physician and he will tell you at what hours, in what situations, and for what periods of time the child's sun-bath should be given. All these points are important, and as they vary with the weather, the location and the child, consultation with the physician is only good sense.

Little runabouts should be carefully seasoned to the sun and air, a little at a time. The first exposures should be allowed only after the child has been out in the air fully dressed for some weeks of play. It is unwise to let a little one strip to his skin and expose himself the very first day he feels like enjoying the sunshine on his skin. Let him wear a gauzy shirt until he becomes a bit accustomed to the weather and the sunshine. If he is at all delicate, or has any skin trouble, consult the physician about his baths and settle his schedule with the doctor's help.

There ought to be a time limit on sun-baths. It is just as bad to allow a child to bathe in the sun for hours as it is for him to lie in his tub for hours. Find just what length of time seems best for him, get the doctor's advice, and then hold to the schedule. It is a mistake to believe that it is natural and safe for a child to run naked in the open sunshine because the sun is a natural force. The two do not hang together. Our children are not children of nature in that sense. Their rearing has been artificial and must continue to be so.

Boys and girls who go to summer camp should know enough to protect themselves against severe sunburn, but some of them do not. I saw a group of children freshly arrived from the city, run to their cabins, shed their clothing, and, dressed only in a pair of shorts, lie down in a row on the hillside to get a coat of tan. "Oh, no, it is good for us. We want to be the brownest this year. No, it doesn't make us sick."

But it did. Before the counselor could be found to rescue them they were badly burned, so badly that one of them was in bed for ten days. That sort of thing is silly. And it is dangerous. Children old enough to go to camp ought to know the risks they run in such exposures, and not make themselves ill. Counselors cannot be everywhere at all times. They have to depend upon the youngsters to exercise a little common sense.

The whole question calls for that. Good sense will prevent bad burns, sun sickness and injured skin, by avoiding exposures that are untimely or ill-advised. The doctor's advice will prevent still other bad results. It is better to be safe than sorry.
